NO. 71—EIGHTY-FIFTH YEAR — VICTORIA, BRITISH COLUMBIA, FRIDAY, MARCH 5, 1943 — FOURTEEN PAGES

Moscow-Velikie Luki Rail Line Freed by Red Armies

Threaten to Snap Main Nazi Bryansk-Kiev Rail Link

LONDON, March 4 (CP).—The Red Army has freed the Moscow-Velikie Luki railway in the drive toward the Latvian frontier only eighty miles beyond, Moscow announced tonight in a special communique, while in the south the Russians are threatening to snap the main Nazi rail artery linking Bryansk and Kiev.

The communique said Olenino, thirty-five miles west of fallen Rzhev on the frozen central front, had been occupied by the Russians to open the 270-mile railway between Moscow and Velikie Luki and facilitate the surge to the West.

One of the immediate Russian goals on this front is Smolensk, only sixty miles south of Velikie Luki, and the thirty-five-mile sweep west of Rzhev indicated the Germans were falling back hastily toward Smolensk.

A twenty-five-mile day's advance from the Dmitriev-Lgov sector on the northern edge of the Ukraine found the Russians rolling into Sevsk, only twenty miles from the vital Bryansk-Kiev Railway, the communique, recorded by the Soviet monitor, disclosed.

Sevsk is about seventy-five miles south of Bryansk and about the same distance northeast of Kinotop, important junction on the railway which is the backbone of German communications between the Ukraine and central fronts.

PART OF VAST OPERATION

The Russian advance here also was part of a vast operation aimed at undermining Nazi defences to the northeast at Orel, present hinge of the southern-central fronts which has Russian armies fighting on three sides of the city's approaches.

Sudzha, a rail junction seventy-five miles southeast of Sevsk, also was occupied in the Russian drive toward the Bryansk-Kiev Railway, the communique said.

The Russian communique once again failed to mention the progress of fighting in the Donets Basin where the Germans claimed the recapture of Slavyansk, fifty miles north of Stalino.

Nor did the bulletin give any details of Marshal Semeon Timoshenko's drive on Staraya Russa in the Lake Ilmen sector northwest of Moscow.

Control of the Moscow-Velikie Luki Railway gave the Russians the best route for feeding supplies to the Red Army units at Velikie Luki who are threatening Smolensk, key to the entire German defence setup on the central front. The line also will be of considerable value for the offensive by Timoshenko's troops above the central front.

The Russians during the day re-

Want Degrees At Lower Price

VANCOUVER, March 4 (CP).—The University of British Columbia graduating class at a mass meeting today voted not to pay graduation fees of $15 each this year unless they were given an itemized account of all expenses connected with the ceremony. Student speakers estimated the $5,500 which would be collected this year at the $15 rate could be scaled down to $4,360 and even that could be lowered by the elimination of "frills."

Americans In Big Raid On Germany

Rotterdam and Hamm Blasted by Bombers

LONDON, March 4 (AP).—American heavy bombers struck two powerful new pre-invasion blows in daylight today, heavily bombing Hamm, key of a vast German rail network, over which Hitler would have to move troops to meet Allied armies in Western Europe, and Rotterdam, which might become a landing point for armies striking the Continent.

The American raid carried on the Allied aerial offensive to Western Germany's most important wartime communications centre following the eighth successive night raid in which the R.A.F., with R.C.A.F. help, subjected Hamburg to a devastating fire and explosive bath.

In daylight late today R.A.F. Mosquito bombers attacked railway centres near Le Mans and Valenciennes in Northern France. One plane failed to return.

Late tonight the Paris and German radios went off the air, indicating that British bombers were over the Continent for the ninth straight night.

Five planes were lost in the Hamm raid, but they destroyed at least fourteen of a strong German fighter force.

TEN LOST OVER HAMBURG

Over Hamburg last night, the R.A.F. lost nine and the R.C.A.F. one bomber in "a heavy attack." Unspecified targets in Western Germany also were bombed and fighters made intruder patrols over Holland, destroying an enemy raider.

"Many 4,000-pounders and tens of thousands" of fire bombs were dropped at Hamburg by Lancasters, Halifaxes, Sterlings and Wellington squadrons, the Air Ministry news service said.

"Clouds of smoke hung over the target," returning pilots said.

At nightfall the Allied bomb lashing of Germany and Nazi-held territory had been going virtually nonstop for 192 hours.

The Hamm raid was considered highly significant in the light of Prime Minister Churchill's statement February 11 that the defeat of German submarines must be a prelude to establishment of a second front in Europe.

American raids heretofore have been directed against Axis submarine bases and the fact that they have now spread farther afield was held in some quarters to mean the anti-submarine campaign had progressed to a point where planes can be spared to carry on the softening-up process elsewhere.

The Germans countered with two weak passes at London last night and before dawn today.

Casualties were caused but the communique declared that "nowhere was the damage extensive." Three German raiders were shot down.

GERMANS CLAIM SCHOOL HIT

LONDON, March 4 (AP).—The German radio said tonight that ten American bombers had been destroyed in daylight raids at Rotterdam, the Dutch coast and "in attempts to reach German territory."

In no account recorded here did the Germans mention the Fortress raid on Hamm. Although an earlier broadcast had said seven bombers were destroyed over Western Germany, the later propaganda line was that "German fighters repulsed the Americans in attempts to reach the German territory."

The broadcast also belittled the Rotterdam raid, saying bombs "were dropped indiscriminately on a small Dutch coastal town and hit two schools and killed about seventy children."

Won Their Commissions . . .

BACK in Canada after winning their commissions in the R.C.N. overseas are these two well-known young Ottawa naval officers—Sub-Lieut. Peter G. Chance, R.C.N. (left), former Canadian junior skating champion, and Sub-Lieut. William Howe, R.C.N., son of the Minister of Munitions and Supply, the Hon. C. D. Howe. Both have had exciting adventures overseas, young Howe having been torpedoed on H.M.S. Dorsetshire, to square accounts with his father, who was "tin-fished" early in the war as a passenger on the merchant ship Western Prince.

Jam in London Air Raid Shelter Takes 178 Lives And Leaves Sixty Injured

Woman Carrying Baby, Who Tripped on Stairs And Caused Pile Up of Hundreds, Rescued Alive

LONDON, March 4 (CP).—A woman carrying a baby tripped near the bottom of a subway stairway during the German air raid on London last night, and within a minute the nineteen steps became a well of death where 178 persons perished in a pile-up and sixty were injured.

The woman was rescued alive but her baby was killed.

Among the dead was Dick Corbett, former bantamweight boxing champion of Britain and the Empire.

There was "no sign of panic before the accident," and no bombs fell near the subway station which served as an air raid shelter, a Ministry of Home Security statement said.

The ministry statement explained the accident this way:

"There were nearly 2,000 in the shelter, including several hundred who arrived after the alert, when a middle-aged woman, burdened with a bundle and a baby, tripped near the foot of a flight of nineteen steps which leads down from the street.

"This flight terminates on a landing. The woman fell down the last two or three steps and lay on the landing. Her fall tripped an elderly man behind her and he fell similarly.

"Their bodies again tripped up those behind them and within a few seconds a large number of people were lying on the lower steps and the landing, completely blocking the stairway.

"Those coming in from the street could not see exactly what had taken place and continued to press down the steps so that within a minute there were hundreds of people crushed together and lying on top of one another, covering the landing and the lower steps."

MANY HELP REMOVE BODIES

Soldiers, police, civilians and members of the Women's Volunteer Service removed the injured and dead from the pit long after the German raiders had departed.

The shelter was regarded by the French Control Goes to Spain

TANGIER, International Zone, Morocco, March 4 (AP).—Spanish authorities tonight took over from the French control of the post-office, telegraph and telephone services of Tangier. These services had been officially under the Sultan of Morocco and were operated by the French Ministry of Posts and Telegraph but from now on, it was announced, will be under the jurisdiction of the Caliph of Tetuan and the Spanish protectorate.

Allies Regain Nearly All Territory Taken by Rommel

Push on to Three Miles West Of Faid Pass—Big Assault Near

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, NORTH AFRICA, March 4 (AP).—Allied patrols recaptured Sidi Bouzid and reached a point three miles west of Faid Pass today, as Marshal Rommel surrendered virtually all his costly gains in Central Tunisia and massed his armor in the Mareth line where the British Eighth Army has wheeled up for a decisive assault.

Paying the terrific price of "very heavy casualties," other German forces in the North, west of Bizerte, pushed the British Army back four miles in the Sedjenane sector near the Tabarka-Mateur road. The Allied communique said all other attacks in the North were repulsed.

Now at the portals of Faid Pass which Rommel used as a springboard to wrest 4,000 square miles in a massive gamble to turn the flank of the British First Army, Allied forces have regained most of the lost territory save for Gafsa and the desert wastes that lie near the oasis.

The Mareth Line was under continuing assault from Allied bombers. Allied planes also struck hard behind the lines as well as at airfields and targets at Tunis, Gabes, roads in the south and enemy ground targets in the north.

FRENCH PATROLS CONTACT ENEMY

A French High Command communique tonight said French patrols had made contact with the enemy in the area both north and south of Chott Djerid, the big salt waste south of Gafsa and west of the Mareth Line.

British submarines in the Mediterranean narrows sank seven Axis ships, damaged nine others, shelled a shipyard in the Gulf of Genoa in Italy and attacked a train on a bridge, the Admiralty announced in London. A large supply ship, a medium and two small supply ships, a mine sweeper and two tugs were sunk. Damaged ships included a large tanker and large supply ship.

United States heavy bombers attacked Messina, Sicily, without

From Europe Day by Day—

THE TIMES, London

News and Comment on International Events selected from The Times daily and published in The Daily Colonist by special arrangement with The Vancouver Daily Province.

(Copyright, 1943, by Southam Co.)

LONDON, March 4.—The Red Army's capture of Rzhev, one of the Nazi's most powerfully defended centres, brought it a large haul of tanks and guns and opened the way westward for a further advance. Two thousand Germans were killed in the battle for the city which the Nazis pretended they voluntarily evacuated. The Russians are now driving towards the Gzhatsk area.

The battle south of Lake Ilmen has not ended, though Marshal Timoshenko has already reached all his immediate objectives. He may thrust further towards Kholm, and below Staryarussa and smash through to Lake Peipus, 125 miles farther west.

The Nazis, presumably in an attempt to prevent this, are using numbers of dive bombers against the Red Army which is bringing more and more fighter bombers into action, including what the Germans call "Iron Gustafs."

The battle in the Orel area rages as furiously as ever, and the Germans are now talking of "great Russian superiority," at many points. The Nazis say they are outnumbered twenty to one.

The military correspondent of The Times says the fall of Rzhev increases the Red Army's threat against Vyasma, and a further retreat by the enemy may be expected here. Offensive operations are obviously proceeding both towards Kholm and the strategically important centre of Sukhimichi. In the Donets area the Germans have made some gains but the whole front here is fluid and changes occur daily.

Withdrawal of Italian troops from Russia, says the diplomatic correspondent, means, really, only the withdrawal of remnants of them. Italian losses have been great and there is no indication they are going back to participate in any more east battles. Apparently, Italian forces have now to be concentrated for the defence of Italy.

All Germany's satellites are now convinced a German victory is impossible. Finland is angling for terms; Hungary has made soundings for a separate peace; Rumania is so war weary and has lost so many in Russia its government is alarmed. Obviously, Hitler's control of the European situation is loosening.

Editorially, The Times deals with the work of the Navy in this war and emphasizes that, if the attempted U-boat blockade was ever temporarily successful, the whole Allied war effort would come to a standstill. The blockade of Germany, on the other hand, is virtually complete with the cutting off of supplies from North Africa, amounting to 4,000,000 tons of cargo yearly.

Every new expedition overseas and every new piece of territory wrested from the Axis will involve new calls for ships, troopships, supply ships and escort. A single pool of tonnage to ensure economical use of all of it is the best solution of the problem of sea communication at present.

The Eighth Army is up against the Mareth Line, says The Times' Cairo correspondent. The Germans and Italians are digging hard to improve their defences. The position has no depth, however, like the Maginot Line, which formed its model. Removal of tank traps by

Long Delay In Action By Liberals

Speakers Think 1919 Policy Coming Now

OTTAWA, March 4 (CP).—A Government statement on whether the Provinces are prepared to give up certain jurisdiction to make possible a plan of social security was urged in the House of Commons today by John C. Diefenbaker (Prog. Con., Lake Centre).

Speaking on a Government motion to set up a House committee to study social insurance as a charter of social security for Canada, Mr. Diefenbaker said there was no present assurance that Provinces would vacate their jurisdiction in the field of social security.

There should also be assurance that the Government either has agreement from the Provinces or that application will be made to London for the necessary amendment to the British North America Act.

Mr. Diefenbaker read from a list of objectives stated in the Liberal party platform of 1919 and said they were strikingly similar to objectives set forth in the social security committee resolution before the House.

He asked why, when these objectives had been declared twenty-three years ago, a Liberal Government only now was setting up a committee to recommend steps to achieve them.

HINT FROM CONSERVATIVES

It was "a singular fact" that the House had to wait until after the Winnipeg Progressive Conservative convention in December, with its progressive suggestions, before social legislation was made so large a part of the programme of the Government.

"That may account for the fact that, the convention being over only six or seven weeks before, sufficient time had not elapsed to enable the Government to communicate with the various Provincial Governments on these matters," said Mr. Diefenbaker.

"I believe that the time has come if we wish to build up in Canada equality in social legislation, that the Provinces must give up some of their rights to the central authority."

Mr. Diefenbaker said his party believed that the State's share of the cost of all social security measures should be borne by the Dominion, and the time had come for such a system to be put into effect.

The Government had the obligation to make available to every citizen adequate medical, dental, nursing, hospital and prenatal care, with further advances in public health and nutritional principles so that health might be safeguarded and preserved.

Flood Wipes Out Homes

Property Damage in Los Angeles Heavy

LOS ANGELES, March 4 (AP).—Approximately seventy-five families were made temporarily homeless, at least one person was dead and property damage was heavy in a flood which struck Los Angeles' east side and other parts of the country today.

Scores of families in the low-lying eastern section of the city were driven to their rooftops when four to six feet of water poured through their homes, sheriff's deputies reported.

They were removed by deputies and volunteers in rowboats with only one known casualty, Ruth Correla, six weeks old, who slipped from her father's arms when he was attempting to place her on the roof and was swirled away by the current.

SURVIVORS LAND

NATAL, Brazil, March 4 (AP).—Thirty-four survivors of the Spanish ship Monte Igueldo reported upon their arrival at nearby Praia Touros this week that the 3,453-ton vessel was torpedoed by a submarine that was later attacked by an Allied patrol plane. They said the submarine was either "German, Italian or French."

Australians Rejoice Over Big Victory

SYDNEY, March 4 (CP).—There was rejoicing everywhere in Australia today at the unprecedented victory scored by Allied airmen against the Japanese convoy in the Bismarck Sea.

There was a tense silence in the House of Representatives at Canberra when Prime Minister John Curtin announced the victory. Then cheers broke out as he added he was sure the House would like to express to Gen. MacArthur and his forces the pride and admiration felt over this latest great success. He added that never before on so many fronts has there been such justification of confidence in the final result.

Curtin said British Spitfire squadrons, manned by British and Australian pilots, had been here for some time, but their presence was kept secret to exploit the surprise element. This was achieved over Darwin Tuesday, when Spitfires intercepted a flight of Japanese Zeros and shot down six out of sixteen.

The Prime Minister said the Spitfire squadrons came to Australia as complete units with their own ground personnel and equipment in response to an appeal to Prime Minister Churchill.

CRITICIZES WASTE

OTTAWA, March 4 (CP).—Col. John Thompson, Government economy director, said in an interview today he found it increasingly difficult "to cope with all the crazy waste and extravagance" which he was assigned to control. He said "evasion, subterfuge and outright trickery" were being used to nullify the work of the Office of Government Economy Control. Thousands of dollars had been spent on office supplies, furniture and equipment, he charged, without requisitions ever having been submitted to him for approval or rejection.

Ickes Wants New Alaska Highway Link

Proposes Road Start At Prince George

WASHINGTON, March 4 (CP).—Enactment of a bill authorizing construction of a $25,000,000 highway to Alaska through Canadian territory is recommended by Interior Secretary Harold Ickes in a letter to Chairman W. L. Robinson of the House of Representatives committee on roads.

Starting at Prince George, B.C., the road would join the new Canadian-Alaskan Highway at White Horse, Yukon Territory, following the route recommended by the Alaskan International Highway Commission, the letter, made public today by Delegate Anthony Dimond, of Alaska, explained.

Representative Warren Magnuson (Democrat, Washington), chairman of the commission, said he favored an amendment Ickes suggested in his letter, to provide for "such co-operative agreement" with the Canadian Government as might be necessary or appropriate.

WOULD CONNECT VAST NETWORK

Construction of the supply highway, Magnuson said, would connect a vast network of water and road transportation systems and provide a valuable new link between the United States West Coast and Alaska.

In his letter, Ickes said the route would afford a direct line of communication between Seattle, Wash., and Fairbanks, Alaska, and could easily be expanded to serve coastal points which would afford transportation facilities for equipment and supplies required in the highway's construction.

"Although a military highway is now being constructed by the War Department from St. John to Alaska," Ickes wrote, "in my opinion it is still necessary that the President be authorized to proceed with the construction of a direct highway connection between the West Coast and Alaska."

Cost of Living Index Is Lower

OTTAWA, March 4 (CP).—A drop of one-fifth of a point in the official cost-of-living index from January 1 to February 1 was reported late today by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics.

If the February 1 level is maintained for two months, the result will be a drop of twenty-five cents or of 1 per cent in cost-of-living bonuses now being paid to workers in most Canadian industries. Next date for revision of bonus payments is May 15, on the basis of the index for April 1.

Last July 1 the index was 17 per cent above the prewar level of 100.0. At February 1 it stood at 116.9 or 16 per cent above the prewar level. A change of at least one full point from the time of the last bonus revision is the minimum required before the bonus is altered.

Blaze Ruins Old Dwelling

Belonged to Late Hon. Archer Martin

A spectacular fire which destroyed "Ballinahinch," home of the late Hon. Archer Martin, former chief justice of British Columbia, and caused extensive damage to the home of another late chief justice of the province, Hon. J. A. Macdonald, drew thousands of persons to the Rockland district last night at 9 o'clock, and endangered other homes nearby through flying embers which ignited grass.

The fire, of unknown origin, started in the Martin home, 1035 Belmont Avenue, which was unoccupied. Clouds of sparks from the rapidly-burning frame building ignited the roof of the Macdonald home at 933 St. Charles Street, occupied by Mrs. Macdonald and her daughter, and caused unestimated damage to the roof and upper story. It was covered by insurance.

"Ballinahinch" was condemned by the city about eighteen months ago, and the City Council had recently discussed disposal of the property, according to Fire Department officials. It was used for years as a rooming-house.

The fire department had 100 calls reporting the fire, from residents in all parts of the city. Fire Chief Alex Munro said last night it was blazing when the first trucks arrived. Seven trucks in all were sent to guard the fire and surrounding homes, and fifteen off-shift firemen were called.

No. 2 company of the fire department was still on duty at an early hour this morning, largely as a precautionary measure.

Subsidy for Fuel Dealers Next Season

To Pay $1 Per Cord To Help Ease Famine

OTTAWA, March 4 (CP).—To meet the threat of a serious "wood-fuel famine" which threatens to come to a head next Winter, the Munitions Department announced tonight that a subsidy of $1 a cord will be paid to dealers on all commercial fuel-wood contracted for and cut on or before June 30, 1943, and held to dealers' account on that date.

The department also announced these additional measures to counter the shortage:

1. The coal controller has been authorized to arrange in his discretion for payment of such portion of the transportation costs as he considers proper in respect of fuel-wood, particularly in cases where dealers, to procure supplies, find it necessary to contract for fuel-wood at locations outside the area from which they normally derive their supplies. To obtain any such reimbursement dealers must obtain a permit from the coal controller before contracting for such supplies.

2. The coal controller will repurchase from dealers at dealers' cost all commercial grades of fuel-wood on which a subsidy of $1 per cord has been paid and which are still in dealers' hands as at May 31, 1944.

3. Assistance will be given in providing priorities for necessary equipment.

The departmental statement said "Canada faces a wood-fuel famine so serious that, unless immediate action is taken, many thousands may be unable to heat their houses adequately next Winter; families may be forced to vacate their homes and the health of others may be adversely affected."

Consultations Held on Relief For Persecuted

Premier King Says News Given Too Soon

OTTAWA, March 4 (CP).—Prime Minister Mackenzie King today told the House of Commons that the Canadian Government has been in consultation for some time with the United Kingdom Government on matters relating to relief of persecuted races in Europe.

A Washington dispatch yesterday said the United States Government had suggested to Britain that a conference on the subject be held in Ottawa.

Mr. King said the communication on this subject from the United States Secretary of State, Cordell Hull, on February 26, had been "unfortunately" given to the press in Washington yesterday. It was a working memorandum rather than a formal proposal.

The Prime Minister said a copy of the memorandum was shown to the Canadian Legation in Washington yesterday afternoon. Normally it would not have been published without further communication with the Governments which it concerned.

AXIS SHIPS SUNK

LONDON, March 4 (CP).—The Air Ministry's news service said today that 527 Axis vessels had been sunk or damaged by Allied aircraft in the Mediterranean alone from the time Italy entered the war June 10, 1940, to last February 23. This toll is apart from those bagged by Allied naval forces and mines, "nor does it include those Italian vessels which were bombed in error by the Italian Air Force," the service said.

Remnants of Japanese Convoy Wiped Out

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN AUSTRALIA, March 5 (Friday) (CP).—The remnants of the Japanese convoy of twenty-two ships, ten warships and twelve transports, have been wiped out, the Allied High Command announced today.

The flying fighters of four Allied nations—Americans, British, Dutch and Australians—ganged up on the Japanese to destroy the convoy carrying reinforcements to New Guinea.

This complete destruction of the convoy in the Bismarck Sea, which involved the loss of some 15,000 Japanese troops bound for Lae, New Guinea, involved in its closing phases the sinking of two remaining destroyers afloat.

The complete annihilation added to a triumph which already had been acclaimed by Gen. Douglas MacArthur and the United States Under-Secretary of War Robert Patterson, as constituting a major disaster to Japan, upsetting the enemy's timetable.

OVER EIGHTY TOTAL BAG

Twenty-seven Japanese planes were shot down in the latest operations, bringing to eighty-two the total of enemy planes destroyed or put out of action.

Barges and lifeboats carrying convoy survivors also have been destroyed.

Off Finschafen, New Guinea, where Allied planes began their devastating attack on Tuesday, "our heavy units . . . strafed and sank lifeboats off shore endeavoring to make land," the communique said. "Power barges, loaded with troops from the sunken transports were destroyed with all on board."

"Intensive and widespread searches by our reconnaissance aircraft in the Huon Gulf early yesterday morning failed to reveal any remaining trace of the enemy convoy in the entire area beyond floating wreckage and occasionally lifeboats and barges containing troops.

Two damaged destroyers which had lasted during the (Wednesday) night were attacked, hit and sunk. Barges, lifeboats and rafts still afloat were strafed and sunk. Four enemy fighters were encountered and shot down without loss to ourselves."

Thus in three days after beginning the battle off the southernmost tip of New Britain, along whose north coast the convoy had sought to steal from Rabaul under protection of bad weather, Allied aircraft had cost the enemy an army as large as that which for six months battled before losing the Papuan Peninsula of New Guinea.

Now the Allied ground forces of Papua are moving northward toward Lae, the Huon Gulf base, which the

FIND BODIES

BEAR CREEK, Mont., March 4 (AP).—Rescue workers started out of the Smith Coal Mine shortly before midnight with bodies of thirty-two of the forty miners known to have been killed in an explosion last Saturday, Mine Manager W. A. Romek reported tonight. Found singly or in small groups by workers groping through gas-loaded tunnels of the mine, the bodies were wrapped in canvas and burlap and put on an electric-drawn mine train.

British Warship Losses Total 416

LONDON, March 4 (CP).—Britain has lost 416 warships since the start of the war, Lord Bruntisfield, Parliamentary Secretary to the Admiralty, told the House of Lords today in reply to a question.

Lord Bruntisfield gave this breakdown of Britain's naval losses:

Forty-four submarines, 5 capital ships, 7 aircraft carriers, 25 cruisers, 14 armed merchant cruisers, 94 destroyers, 14 corvettes, 1 monitor, 3 sloops, 22 mine sweepers, 186 trawlers, 14 drifters, 1 mine layer, 3 yachts, 5 gunboats and 3 cutters.

Babies Perished in Arms and Adults Died Standing Up in London Raid Shelter Tragedy

With Stairway Jammed, Crowds Pressed From Behind—Worse Than Dunkerque, Survivor Says

LONDON, March 4 (CP).—Frightened, crying babies perished in the arms of mothers and fathers as a struggling mass of people sought freedom from London's worst air raid shelter jam during last night's German attack on London.

Grown-ups died standing up—and remained upright during a thirty-minute impasse. Then they toppled over by the dozens as the pressure from the rear of the darkened subway entrance was relaxed.

William Johnes, a timekeeper, was one of those who survived the jam but he saw his only son, Peter, crushed at his side.

Johnes said he and his wife are veterans of the blitz and no longer bothered to seek the cover of shelters during recent raids.

"But my kids were evacuated to the country at the beginning of the war and only recently returned," he explained. "They had never experienced air raids, so I took Peter and our two daughters, Patricia, eleven, and June, thirteen, to the shelter for the night and was going to return home."

But they were trapped halfway inside the shelter. Patricia is in hospital with broken ribs. June escaped with bruises.

There was no rush to enter the shelter and the people were descending the first flight of steps in orderly fashion, Johnes said.

PEOPLE PRESSED FROM BEHIND

"Me and my kids were about halfway down the steps when everybody up front stopped," he continued. "People kept moving forward behind us. I didn't see the fall of the woman with the baby in front of us, which I understand started the jam. I couldn't see what was happening, as the entrance was dark.

"Some of us men shouted for them to move on down below but we all got packed tighter and tighter.

"I was carrying my little boy in my arms. Patricia was right in front of me and June just behind. Nobody could move forward.

"People began screaming and fighting to get out. Patricia screamed 'Daddy, I can't stand it any more. I'm dying.' I tried to shove to make room for her, but could not move an inch—we were packed so tight.

"Finally I felt myself going. I was gasping for breath. My arms seemed to go dead. My little boy slipped down along my body until his feet touched the steps and he was jammed between my legs.

"For the whole half-hour we were jammed like that. It was horrible. Babies were crushed and suffocated and died in their fathers' and mothers' arms.

"People who had fallen down were trampled on as everybody screamed and struggled to get out.

PEOPLE DIED STANDING UP

"People died standing up and bodies stayed upright until the police came and cleared away the jam around the entrance and turned on the lights. Then the dead ones just toppled over.

Johnes said the wife and three children of a neighbor, William Hoy, a furniture dealer, died in the crush. Hoy had not accompanied them to the shelter. Johnes said another neighbor, William Lawson, lost two children. Their baby died in Lawson's arms and the other child was crushed beside him, he said.

In the midst of the crush, Mrs. Elizabeth House felt someone snatch her six-month-old baby from her arms as she struggled to hold the child above her head. The mother was later dragged to safety through the shelter entrance—and learned several hours later that her baby was safe. The woman's sister had grabbed the baby girl and fought her way down into the shelter, where they spent the night.

William Webster, another one who [illegible] had been dive-bombed at sea, and "saw twenty men killed on a ship, but it was nothing compared with this.

"You could not move them," he said. "Spectators who went up to help were powerless to do anything and a number of men fainted."

SAW NOTHING SO TERRIBLE

"Although I was at Dunkerque I have never seen anything so terrible," declared G. H. Davis, another survivor. "As I squeezed through the door to the top of the stairs I saw bodies piled two and three deep. A man with a small baby in his arms was killed. His wife stood by powerless to help."

Thomas Wilson said: "People seemed to be piled up waist high on the stairs. We had to stand on unconscious people to get them out."

There were stories of whole families being wiped out. And others of small children being crushed under their suffocating parents.

John Quorn, twenty-two-year-old tunnel worker, who helped build the shelter, said his mother, sister, brother and a nephew were killed.

"The sight on the stairs was the most dreadful I ever saw," Quorn declared. "We laid the dead out on the pavement while the ambulances run shuttle service to hospitals.

J. Knowles, an air raid warden, who helped in the rescue work, said that 178 dead and sixty injured were taken out of a space that would ordinarily hold about 100 people.

"Foreigner" Cry Heard in House Budget Debate

Term Applied by Gillis to Cameron

"I was born in Canada, so were my parents and my grandparents, and I intend to speak the truth regardless of what a foreigner who has been in Canada only a few years says," Dr. J. J. Gillis (Liberal, Yale) declared with asperity in the Legislature yesterday.

The speaker was referring to Colin Cameron (C.C.F., Comox) in the course of a heated clash with the Comox member during an exposition of Marxian socialism and social reform. He wanted to know the objective of the Co-operative Commonwealth Federation.

He was interrupted by Harold Winch, Leader of the C.C.F. Opposition.

"I'll tell you what our stand is," volunteered Mr. Winch. "The objective and programme of the C.C.F. is to move forward step by step as a government, under the Constitution, to achieve as rapidly as possible the public ownership of the means of life."

DOES NOT AGREE WITH DEFINITION OF C.C.F.

Dr. Gillis would not agree that the definition of the C.C.F. policy was socialism.

"Fascism is any brutal dictatorship—no strikes, no collective bargaining—only state control. Communism goes farther; it confiscates property and teaches atheism. I consider Stalin the biggest Fascist in the world.

Mr. Cameron cautioned that he was not sure that Dr. Gillis was not contravening the Defence of Canada Regulations in making derogatory remarks about an ally.

It was then that Dr. Gillis referred to the member for Comox as a "foreigner."

Dr. Gillis as a medical man advised Premier Hart to give up the portfolio of Minister of Finance. To carry on both offices was too much for any man, he believed.

Dr. Gillis said the $10,000,000 vote for roads was too little, and that $60,000,000 should be spent over a period of five or six years. He suggested new buildings be erected at Essondale and that the Provincial Laboratory at Vancouver be renovated before other public buildings in cities were constructed.

The Yale member thought the $180,000 vote to assist rural school districts was far too small and that many more teachers would drift to more lucrative positions. Children in smaller communities, he said, did not have the same facilities for higher education as those in cities and the Government should appropriate more money for the smaller centres.

PRAISES MR. PATTULLO FOR WIDE KNOWLEDGE

He praised former Premier Pattullo for his wide grasp of knowledge in Provincial matters and wished the C.C.F. Opposition had the same information. If they had, he commented, they could make it very interesting for the Government.

The $60,000 vote for survey of hydro-electric resources was commendable, he said, and he hoped its findings would result in keeping young people on farms by providing cheap electricity, instead of driving them to cities. Hydro-electric development would provide more irrigation projects for farms, he continued. There was plenty of land and water, but development of power was necessary, he believed.

Dr. Gillis said he was tired of hearing Coalition members talk about the Japanese, and criticizing the Japanese stand on that question. He didn't agree with some of the Coalitionists' views, but never took them seriously. When he was in opposition during the Tolmie regime he voted to give the vote to Japanese who had served in Canadian military units during the last Great war, he recalled.

Personally, he was satisfied that the British Columbia Security Commission did a good job in evacuating Japanese from the Coast.

Concluding, he challenged Herbert Gargrave (C.C.F., Mackenzie), who claimed the C.C.F. represented labor. Dr. Gillis quoted at length from various press items to prove that the American Federation of Labor and other labor organizations were not socialistic.

the Italian Armistice Commission greatly weakened the defences.

The Nazis' reprisal raid on London last night was a small-scale affair, some houses being hit and people killed. Very few enemy aircraft reached London. Berlin is still burning.

Nearly 30,000 Palestinian Jews have now joined British fighting services, which would be equivalent to a volunteer army of 2,500,000 in the United Kingdom. Jewish technical experts are at work everywhere, from North Africa to India.

GRANTS FOR HALIFAX

OTTAWA, March 4 (CP).—Health Minister Mackenzie tonight announced passage of an order in council granting Halifax $30,000 a year for health purposes and an additional $15,000 this year to aid in erection of a tuberculosis hospital.

NEW RUSSIAN PICTURE

Greer Garson, James Cagney Win Academy Acting Awards

HOLLYWOOD, March 4 (AP).—The movie academy award for the best motion picture of 1942 went tonight to Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer for "Mrs. Miniver," which starred Greer Garson and Walter Pidgeon.

The award for the best performance by an actor in 1942 went to James Cagney for his role in "Yankee Doodle Dandy," Warner Brothers production.

Gary Cooper announced the award to Van Heflin, now an army officer, for the best performance in a supporting role. The selection was for his work in "Johnny Eager," M-G-M picture.

Greer Garson won the award for the best 1942 performance by an actress for her portrayal in M-G-M's picture, "Mrs. Miniver."

BEST IN SUPPORTING ROLE

Teresa Wright was acclaimed as the best actress in a supporting role for her part in "Mrs. Miniver."

Miss Garson, a native of County Down, North Ireland, captured the Academy Gold Oscar in the balloting from Bette Davis, Katharine Hepburn, Rosalind Russell and Teresa Wright.

"Mrs. Miniver," which won the lion's share of the awards for achievement in various respects, was acclaimed also as the best motion picture of the year, outscoring others such as "The Invaders," "Kings Row," "The Magnificent Ambersons," "The Pied Piper," "The Pride of the Yankees," "Random Harvest," "The Talk of the Town," "Wake Island" and "Yankee Doodle Dandy."

One Torpedo Sank Vessel In Atlantic

Survivors Tell of Fine Showing by Passengers

BOSTON, March 4 (AP).—A single torpedo fired in the dead of night from an enemy submarine sent a cargo-passenger ship to its grave in the North Atlantic with a loss of 678 lives—the United States' greatest sea disaster since the war began, survivors reported today.

Five survivors, the first to reach the United States, the navy said, reported that the vessel sank within twenty-five minutes after the torpedo roared into the starboard side, apparently trapping a number of soldiers in their bunks.

Within a few minutes the list of the ship was so "terrific" it was almost impossible to walk the decks and a great number of men were cascaded into the freezing water before lifeboats, rafts and floats could be launched.

The vessel was one of two United States cargo ships which the navy announced, on February 22, had been sunk within four days of each other in the North Atlantic with a total loss of 850 lives.

Several survivors endangered their own lives to release jammed lifeboats, survivors said, and some who perished met hero's deaths in similar efforts.

The survivors said that only 185 of 750 passengers, mostly men of the armed forces, aboard the vessel survived. Twenty-eight members of the merchant crew of 130 and thirteen members of the navy gun crew of twenty-four also were rescued.

SOME DIE FROM EXPOSURE

A number apparently died from exposure in the frigid waters, survivors indicated. At least three who had been dragged through the waters for several hours hanging onto jam-packed lifeboats were dead when they reached rescue vessels and at least one perished in a lifeboat while crew members made valiant efforts to fan the spark of life.

The last survivors were not picked up until eight hours after the torpedo struck.

With the impact of the torpedo, the lights went out instantly, and the stricken ship began listing almost immediately. Despite the grave danger of being hurled from decks into the choppy sea, crew members went to their posts in a "matter of fact" way, survivors said, and began lowering boats and rafts. Several stuck, due to the list of the ship, before they could be released, they added.

There was not the "slightest sign" of panic, the survivors indicated. A number of those thrown into the sea attracted attention through the medium of a comparatively new departure—a red light attached to lifejackets.

Survivors said they heard the "customary" outcries expected of anyone in distress but there were positively no signs of disorders.

"In fact," one survivor said, "it was the finest behaved body of men—soldiers, sailors and merchant crew—that I have ever seen."

Hope for Progress Rests With People Of United Nations

Must Work Together Asserts H. Herridge

With the Soviet Union fighting a tremendous battle to assist the United Nations, criticism of that ally of the British Empire is ill-advised and in poor taste, Herbert Herridge (C.C.F., Rossland-Trail) declared in the Legislature last night.

"I think it is up to all of us, our only hope for security and world progress, that we should work together, the people of the Soviet Union, Great Britain, America and other United Nations," Mr. Herridge declared while speaking in the Budget debate.

Replying to criticism of the C.C.F. party and its policies by Coalition members, Mr. Herridge said the C.C.F. policies were "a definite movement to bring about a democratic society in Canada."

Describing himself as a "practical evolutionary revolutionist," he said he believed, with other members of the C.C.F. group, that fundamental changes will have to come in the Dominion if the condition of the masses of the people is to be improved.

"I believe in facing the problems of life in a practical and sensible manner," he explained.

Describing social and economic progress which, he said, is being made in the Soviet Union, Mr. Herridge declared that "we must open our eyes and learn from these people if we are not to be left behind in the race to progress."

Does Your Breath Offend?

Bad Breath Hinders Success in Love and Business . . . Get Rid of It.

Happiness and success in life depend on ability to get on with other people. One drawback many suffer is offensive breath. This is often unnecessary if you are careful to attack the main cause of bad breath—a system overloaded with poisonous food waste.

It's amazing how easily you can keep the system clean, so that breath is attractively sweet, by a safe and, oh! so gentle vegetable remedy. It's called Bile Beans—and in each small laxative pill go 10 vegetable extracts which work on liver, bile, stomach, upper and lower bowel.

This 4-way vegetable action of Bile Beans cures the system into healthy regularity, gently, pleasantly—not harshly like cheap laxatives. Be convinced—try Bile Beans this very night. Made in England—over 7 million boxes sold yearly, proof of sensational popularity. Only 50c at druggists. 4

MAJOR WYLER WINS AWARD

Maj. William Wyler, now stationed in Europe with the Eighth Air Forces, photographing aerial bombings of Axis territory, was voted the outstanding movie director of 1942.

The award was for his megaphoning in "Mrs. Miniver."

Maj. Wyler recently directed the filming of the bombing of the German naval base at Wilhelmshafen.

NO SAFE CONDUCT

RIO DE JANEIRO, March 4 (AP).—Reliable sources reported today that Germany had suspended safe conduct for Swedish vessels bound for Western Hemisphere ports and voiced the opinion the action marked the opening of a submarine campaign against all neutral shipping operating in the Atlantic. The report followed closely the torpedoing of the Spanish ship Monte Igueldo.

B.C. COW WINNER

CHILLIWACK, B.C., March 4 (CP).—Killalana Frisky, a mature cow owned by John McCutcheon, well-known Sardis breeder, headed her class in the 305 Division in January, according to reports from the Canadian Guernsey Breeders' Association in Moncton, N.B. Killalana Frisky produced 10,972 pounds of milk and 542 pounds of fat in 306 days.

Greater Aid to Municipalities Asked in House

Problems Described By R. C. MacDonald

It is impossible for growing municipalities to balance their budgets and give adequate social services under existing conditions, R. C. MacDonald (Cons., Dewdney), asserted yesterday. Speaking during the Budget debate in the Legislature, he called on the Provincial Government to assist them financially to a greater extent than last year. He contended that the Government was never before in so favorable a position to do so.

Mr. MacDonald discussed costs of education; the need for cheap light and power; hospitalization, roads, the budget and the C.C.F. Party.

Charges imposed on land for education and hospitalization services were described by Mr. MacDonald as "unjust impositions on the landowner."

He could not understand, he said, why a landowner should have to pay two-thirds of the cost of educating his neighbor's children when the neighbor is not a landowner but may have more assets in some other form and may be in a better financial position to pay for that service.

TAX ON LANDOWNER HELD UNJUST

Pointing out that municipalities must pay seventy cents a day for each patient in hospital, an indirect tax on the landowner, and one which the non-landowner is not obliged to pay, Mr. MacDonald said he "definitely opposed the injustice of taxing one class of people for the benefit of the other."

Mr. MacDonald touched on possibilities for hydro-electric development and observed that the great need now is for someone to decide on a definite policy of action. He was convinced that people living in the country should never enjoy this convenience until "some public body will buy out the light and power utility and operate it for the common good of all the users."

Dealing with roads, he regretted that the Premier had not considered it advisable to increase the appropriation for road maintenance this year. "The amount of $2,119,370 is the same as for the last three years, regardless of the fact that we have 291 miles more of roads to look after this year than last," he said.

SEES POSSIBILITY OF SERIOUS SITUATION

Mr. MacDonald referred to the C.C.F. executive, which he said controls the party, as "a group of politicians in Vancouver." C.C.F. members of the Legislature are not privileged to exercise their own opinion, he charged, and warned that a serious situation would develop if the C.C.F. party were ever called upon to form a government.

Referring to alleged defalcations in one government department, he hoped "the unfortunate situation would be cleared up regardless of whom it may hurt."

Mr. MacDonald congratulated Premier Hart on the Budget.

SMALL HAUL

CHILLIWACK, B.C., March 4 (CP).—Thieves got little for their effort when they forced an entrance through the back doors of Davies & Logan hardware store and the Quality Meat Market next door. Biggest loss was suffered by Walter Herman, proprietor of the meat market, who missed $25 and a quantity of lard.

ORDERED FROM COAST

SEATTLE, March 4 (AP).—Hans Otto Geise, German-born Seattle attorney, skier and yachtsman, today was ordered by the army to leave the Western defence area within ten days. Preliminary hearings are under way on civil denaturalization proceedings instituted by the Government in January.

The mythical fivers, Daedalus and Icarus, were supposed to have lived on the island of Crete.

An Appropriate Time To Review Your Will
The following statement from the budget speech of the Honourable J. L. Ilsley, Minister of Finance, has an important bearing on your will:
"What we are proposing to do in respect of investment income is in effect to take the whole series of future tax payments to which it will be subject and bring them forward for earlier payment including the unknown income tax that would be due on the death of the taxpayer, and to take the first such payment—50 per cent of the 1942 tax—and put it at the other end. Thus we substitute a definite and known liability at the time of death for an unknown and uncertain one. It is something which a man may, if he wishes, prepare for and even insure against."
Never before could you accurately provide for the income tax liabilities of your estate. Consult our trust officers.

Training of Paratroops Begins Soon

Centre in Manitoba Has Full Equipment

OTTAWA, March 4 (CP).—The Canadian (Active) Army announced officially today that complete paratroop training equipment now is installed at "a Canadian training centre, and the 1st Canadian Parachute Battalion is expected to go into training there within a month."

While the Army statement did not say so, the training centre is presumably at Camp Shilo, Man., which Defence Minister Ralston announced last year would be the Canadian paratroop base.

The Canadians during the Winter have been training at Fort Benning, Ga., and Shilo has been used as a United States equipment testing station.

"Complete paratroop training is expected to begin for the first time on Canadian soil at a Canadian training centre within a month," said the Army.

"Equipment similar to that used in the United States camps in training air-borne troops, including a huge jump tower, now is ready for use.

"With the transfer of the entire battalion from Fort Benning, complete equipment will go into operation. It includes the jump tower, high and low 'mock up towers' which duplicate the shock of the chute opening, and a 'landing trainer' designed to teach recruits the proper landing method."

The type of training carried on at the Fort Benning Parachute Infantry School will be duplicated. Facilities for rigging and drying of parachutes and a new gymnasium have been erected for conditioning Canadian paratroops.

CANADIAN RED CROSS

Most Signal Success of War to Date

Annihilation of Convoy Cheering

OTTAWA, March 4 (CP).—The recent air assaults against Germany, coupled with the sinking of twenty-two Japanese ships by air attack in the Pacific—"the most signal success of the Air Arm in that theatre of war to date"—foreshadows "ultimate victory over the Axis powers," Prime Minister Mackenzie King said today.

The Prime Minister was speaking in the House of Commons, just before he read messages of greeting sent to Prime Minister Churchill and President Roosevelt.

A few days ago, said Mr. King, he paid tribute to Russian arms on the twenty-fifth anniversary of formation of the Red Army.

"News of more recent days has shown the weight and the telling effect of the sustained offensive which has been undertaken by the United Nations in combat areas alike in Europe and the Far East," he said.

"One has but to mention the recent air assaults against Germany, in which Canadian bomber squadrons had a large share, and the still more recent annihilation of a large Japanese convoy at the hands of air forces operating under United States command, to realize the might of this growing offensive."

The message from Mr. King to Mr. Churchill expressed Canadian pleasure at his recovery from his recent illness, as marked by his attendance at a War Cabinet meeting yesterday.

The message to Mr. Roosevelt congratulated him on the tenth anniversary of his inauguration as President.

Mr. King referred to the "growing might" of the Allied offensive as indicated by R.A.F. and R.C.A.F. raids on Germany and German-occupied Europe, and to the successes of air forces under United States command in the Pacific which sank twenty-two Japanese ships.

EVENTS FORESHADOW ULTIMATE VICTORY

These events foreshadowed ultimate victory over the Axis powers, said Mr. King, who referred also to Russian successes and events in North Africa.

Gordon Graydon, Progressive Conservative House Leader, said his group was glad to associate itself with the sentiments expressed by the Prime Minister. M. J. Coldwell, C.C.F. Leader, asked to have his group warmly associated in the tribute to the two leaders, and in the expression of satisfaction in recent successes of the arms of the United Nations.

But "these victories do not mean that the end of the war is in sight," said Mr. Coldwell, and he hoped they would not arouse any undue optimism for an early peace.

John Blackmore, Leader of the New Democracy Group, said there should be thanksgiving to Divine Providence that placed Mr. Churchill and Mr. Roosevelt at the head of the two great Allied Nations at this trying time.

Split Second Gives Airman Opportunity

Safely Aboard Dinghy When Charges Explode

LONDON, March 4 (CP).—A depth charge will kill a man close to it in the water, so the Canadian Navy man was just one split and dripping second from death as he hauled himself over the side of the rubber dinghy and fell exhausted inside while his Swordfish plane and its two depth charges settled rapidly in the water nearby.

The next instant the waters beneath him exploded and tossed the dinghy and its two occupants—the Canadian was Lieut. Edmond Jess, Quebec Fleet Air Arm observer and the other was his pilot—high in the cascading spout of water.

"But somehow we came down right side up," Jess said here in an interview on his return from almost a year of Mediterranean service as one of the few Canadians in the Fleet Air Arm. "We managed to grab the dinghy again and wait for a destroyer to pick us up."

That was in the Spring of 1942 while Lieut. Jess, who left McGill to join the R.C.N.V.R. as an ordinary seaman three years ago, was observer in a Swordfish flying from the aircraft Eagle, helping transport Spitfires from Gibraltar to Malta to prepare for the Summer offensive.

SEVERAL CANADIANS WITH FLEET AIR ARM SQUADRON

He was the only Canadian in the Swordfish squadron, but there were others on fighter squadrons at Malta then. And two of the men with whom he had taken initial training in the Fleet Air Arm in Britain were flying in Fleet Air Arm squadrons on the east coast of Africa and over the Indian Ocean. Both were pilots—Lieuts. Ernie Gaunt, Toronto, and Bud Hutton, Saskatoon. In their squadron also was Surgeon Lieut. Murray McLandress, Winnipeg.

Jess, Gaunt and Hutton have returned to Britain on leave, and Gaunt and Hutton told of forty-mile safaris from their desert base to get a bath, and they had to watch constantly against scorpions. Gaunt had a finger bitten by one, and McLandress, who attended Kelvin Technical High School and the University of Manitoba in Winnipeg, saved it by sucking out the poison.

Absenteeism Is Closely Allied To "Slackerism"

WASHINGTON, March 4 (CP).—Chairman Emory S. Land, of the Maritime Commission, testified today that "illegitimate absenteeism" among shipyard workers was costing an estimated 100 Liberty ships annually.

Rear-Admiral Land endorsed legislation designed to curb absenteeism by requiring shipyard foremen to report to local draft boards the names of workers absent without sufficient cause, with a view to possible induction into the armed forces.

Emphasizing that his remarks were aimed mainly at absenteeism among ship workers of draft age, Land said "illegitimate absenteeism is a first cousin to slackerism."

A work or fight order will help materially, he added.

Land said responsible Labor leaders had given "considerable co-operation in curtailing unnecessary absenteeism."

Beaverbrook Promotes Discussion In House of Lords With Proposal To Have War Office Build Planes

No Lack of Space or Manpower For Building of Dive-Bombers

LONDON, March 4 (CP).—Lord Beaverbrook today raised in the House of Lords the question of Britain's lack of dive-bombers. He said he would like to persuade the Government to produce its own dive-bombers and transport planes.

The former Minister of Aircraft Production instanced as reasons why dive-bombers should be produced. The "destruction wrought at Pearl Harbor," success of United States dive-bombers against Japanese warships and reports from Africa that German dive-bombers have destroyed many tanks.

"We must turn over design and development to the War Office," he said. "The Air Ministry does not believe in the dive-bomber." He also suggested that army transport planes be built by the War Office.

MEASURES IN HAND TO EXTEND HELP TO CHINA

Lord Beaverbrook's remarks came after Viscount Cranborne, Lord Privy Seal, speaking in a debate on aid to China opened yesterday by Lord Strabolgi, Labor, said that "whatever can be sent to China is being sent; measures are in hand to extend the capacity of air transport facilities."

No radical improvement in sending aid to China could be expected until the reconquest of Burma made the main highway available, Lord Cranborne said.

Lord Beaverbrook said that every other nation had a dive-bomber and high officers of their armies were experienced in production of such planes.

He said that in Britain "we have the extraordinary spectacle now of a shortage of manpower while craftsmen are out work," and asserted there is plenty of factory space and capacity for dive-bomber production.

Lord Brabazon, also a former Minister of Aircraft Production, said much greater technical knowledge and ability are needed in the army and navy, and it would be unwise to make special machines for particular purposes and not look at the whole problem, remembering that resources are limited.

Lord Geddes contended that Lord Beaverbrook wanted to get back to the idea of multiple air services which he (Geddes) believed were utterly wrong in principle. What is needed, he said, is "development of a great general staff which we still lack, fully equipped, fully balanced and fully prepared to take direction of the fighting services."

FOLLY TO SPLIT UP AIR ORGANIZATION

Lord Mottistone, saying that the Air Ministry had maintained a lead on the technical side throughout the war, expressed belief it would be folly to split up an organization which had "saved civilization."

Marshal of the Royal Air Force Viscount Trenchard said the retreat from Tobruk and the miraculous advance from Egypt had shown the British forces had weapons more than equal to the enemy's dive-bombers.

Lord Sherwood, joint Under-Secretary for Air, declared that army and air co-operation had grown during the two years in which this command existed and no doubt would go forward.

"The Eighth Army," he said, "has got to the stage where it is a real unit—a unit of army and air power."

Allocation of Air Routes to Be Held Over

No Change in Status For Duration of War

OTTAWA, March 4 (CP).—Allocation of trans-border commercial air routes between Canadian and United States air lines is "frozen" for the duration of the war under an exchange of notes between the two Governments tabled in the House of Commons today by Prime Minister Mackenzie King.

The exchange continues an arrangement approved by an exchange of notes in November and December of 1940 which was to have continued until December 31, 1942.

Prior to that date the aeronautical authorities were to have held a conference to review the situation and recommend any changes but because of the war situation the conference could not be held and the existing arrangement is continued.

Under the existing allocation of air routes Canada has the right to operate international services between Toronto and New York and between Detroit and any point in Canada. The United States lines already approved for entry to Canada are Buffalo to Toronto; any point in the United States to Windsor, Ont.; and Great Falls, Montana, to Lethbridge, Alta.

Additional international lines may be approved only after the conclusion of supplementary agreements.

Mr. King said the extension was in accord with the Government's policy that pending a decision on postwar international aviation policy no commitments should be made extending beyond the duration of the war.

SOMEONE HAS BLUNDERED

In three successive moves the Dominion and the Provincial Governments, between them, have carried British Columbia to the edge of prohibition in fact, if not in name. For this, neither Administration has had any mandate, but on the contrary the assurance from the past that prohibition in this form will not work. By taxation and by restriction the public which frequents the liquor vendor's store at all is now invited to go upon a spree once a month, on pain of not being able to go to the stores otherwise. That is a ridiculous result. The Dominion began it in December with a 70 per cent quota, based on consumption last year; and most of the Province's troubles have come from trying to comply with that.

The thing continued simply enough with a provincial quota designed to block advance buying of shortening stocks of imported spirits. This Province announced that permit-holders could buy one quart of spirits and one gallon of wine per day, each day. The day's quota was then declared to be the week's quota, and the "run" upon Government vendors stores began. To meet that "run" the Province declared forty ounces of spirits and one gallon of wine to be a month's quota; but added the amazing provision that it must all be bought at once, and that permits would be no good otherwise.

This latest edict so little cured the situation that the seventy-odd liquor vendors' stores were denuded of their stocks, and the "run" spread to beer in bottled form. It, too, grew short, and the stores were left with empty shelves, and a public stirred up to want something it might never have thought about before. The old law of denial was working, and in human nature it always will. Because a shortage had been created, the public was hungry to buy. Both the shortage and the resultant demand were inspired by the Governments' own actions.

Superimposed on this unsound base, the Dominion Government has again increased taxation sharply on spirits, calling on the Provinces at the same time to do likewise, and to precisely the same degree. Spirits, thus, have risen some 40 per cent in cost almost overnight, occasioning the material for the second "run" on the legitimate vendors' stores. Those stores cannot meet the current demand, it is daily reported, so that the demand is finding its satisfaction nowhere, or else through those illicit channels which Canada came to abhor in the last war.

If the Dominion had declared an outright prohibition in Canada no greater plum could have been thrown to the bootlegger in fact than has come its way piecemeal to that sordid and despicable trade. Commenting on these facts, the Vancouver Daily Province puts the case well when it states:

"The result is for the country at large that we have a virtual state of prohibition all over again, with all the old evils of the prohibition era and some new ones for good measure. There is a black market in Government liquor, with the bootlegger plying his miserable trade at the very door of the liquor store, and collecting a peculiarly sordid blackmail. . . . Most of all there is seemingly a hopeless confusion in the attempts of the authorities to do what manifestly has to be done, namely to institute an orderly and equitable system of rationing of lawful liquor."

That comment was made before the new Federal, and fresh Provincial, taxes raised the price of spirits to the public. Since then, of course, the confusion has been only confounded, as could well have been foreseen. What matters now is that the Dominion and the Province between them get together to put an end to an intolerable state of affairs. Neither Government holds any mandate for prohibition, whether by direct or by indirect means. Canada has no place for the bootlegger, who can operate smugly and calmly under the very cover of the law. In short, extremes do not govern, and they do not reform. They only annoy.

THE PLANE SCORES

While times and occasions shift rapidly in the global war, the decisive victory of Allied air power over Japanese sea power in the battle of the Huon Gulf is another instance of what air power, used intelligently, can do in this war. An entire Japanese convoy, including at least three enemy cruisers, seven destroyers and twelve fully loaded transports, was obliterated in forty-eight hours by air attack alone. Every ship in the convoy, so far as it is known, was either sunk outright or else left in a sinking condition fifty miles from the nearest shore.

The convoy was sighted on Monday by United States machines in foggy weather. It was then proceeding off the north coast of New Britain, from a rallying point at or near Rabaul. At first fourteen vessels were counted, but these were joined by eight others, making a total of twenty-two enemy naval and transport craft. On Tuesday the attack was commenced in Vitiaz Strait, and on Wednesday it was resumed in the Huon Gulf, and in the Lae-Salamaua area of New Guinea. Thirty-three Japanese planes were shot down, and twenty-two others so badly damaged that it is believed that they also were lost at sea. In addition, the enemy airfield at Lae was covered, and its machines blocked from rising.

With its air cover gone, the Japanese convoy was marked down for destruction. Ship after ship was struck with heavy bombs, sometimes released from masthead height. One after another the war vessels were silenced, and the transports fled. One by one the transports were hunted down, until each of the twelve was sunk or left sinking. On board the transports were not less than 15,000 troops, with whom the enemy was attempting to reinforce his crumbling positions on New Guinea.

That was a severe and terrific lesson for the enemy. Not one of the twenty-two vessels survived, so far as the Allies are aware. Ten naval craft and twelve transports were put out of the battle, with almost their entire complements. It was a victory for air power, and at a cost of one bomber and three fighter planes on the United Nations side. The result, of course, is a major check to the Japanese in the Southwestern Pacific; and a problem in naval-air warfare that strategists will puzzle over for many a day to come. For here the airplane knocked out a fleet without surface aid, and did it, apparently, without the use of torpedo planes.

IMPORTANT GAINS

Confirmation of the recapture of Rzhev by the Russian forces on the north central section of the Eastern front is important news, and significant in weighing the whole progress of the battle on a vast and moving frontage from Lake Ilmen to the Black Sea. Rzhev was the main German anchor point in the northern zone, fortified and defended with particular care. The collapse of the enemy there means that the Russians have not only straightened out a thin salient running deeply into the Moscow sector, but have embarrassed the enemy by a more direct attack upon the whole of the Velikie Luki-Bryansk zone, which itself is the shield to Smolensk.

Spreading their attack in the north, the Russians yesterday took Olenino, thirty-five miles west of Rzhev, on the Velikie Luki railway, and also Tchertovino, another railway town in the same area. Further north, Russian troops were advancing westward from Demyansk, fifty miles southwest of Lake Ilmen. Sudzha, fifty-five miles southwest of Kursk, and Sersk, in the Orel sector, were also captured in the course of the day. These gains implied slower, but steady, advances on the central and south central sections of the long front, with only the Donets and Kuban advances, where the enemy has developed heavy resistance, slowed up for the present.

While no detailed report was available on the Donets battle, it was there that the Germans were previously reported to be making a reinforced stand with fresh infantry, planes and tanks. The fact that the Russians could push through Rzhev in the face of this stiffened resistance in the south augurs well for the continued advance of our Allies in what has become an epic recovery from two long years of exceedingly hard campaigns in the field. Rzhev itself, added to Kharkov, Kursk, Rostov and the rest, was a crippling blow to Germany; and carries the Nazi banner further from Moscow than it has been in two years.

A PRACTICAL GESTURE

Tomorrow on city streets, and also in Oak Bay, taggers will be soliciting aid for China, whose bravery during more than five years of warfare has elicited the admiration of all. The collection is being taken under the Committee for Medical Aid to China, and the proceeds will be cabled to Mme. Sun Yat Sen, widow of the founder of China's modern republic. Here, all other claims apart, will be a practical opportunity for this community to show what it thinks of the men and women whom Japan have found to be unconquerable.

We have heard relatively little about the actual struggle in China, now into its sixth year of the war. It comes as a shock to realize that some 5,000,000 Chinese troops have been casualties on the field of battle; that 60,000,000 civilians have been rendered homeless; and that more than 2,000,000 children, many of tender years, have been orphaned, in a fight that has known neither lull nor cessation in all that period.

One can do no better than quote the words used this week by Mme. Chiang Kai-Shek, who was speaking of co-operation in a postwar world, thus: "Finally, in order that this war may indeed be a war to end all wars in all ages, and that nations great and small alike may be allowed to live and let live in peace, security and freedom in the generations to come, co-operation in the true and highest sense of the word must be practised." A little of that co-operation is needed now, even in the fight. It is both the privilege and the obligation of all to help, where they can.

EXPERT ASSISTANCE

There is hardly a home in Canada today that does not have some ties overseas, some individual or individuals whose fortunes must be followed at a distance, with perhaps half a world of land and ocean in between. It is precisely in meeting that condition that the Canadian Red Cross is equipped. The prisoner of war in enemy hands, the soldier in battle or on leave, Canadians far away from their homes, all are within the reach of the voluntary organization which is contributing such a sterling and necessary service to Canada.

Where the individual might fail, the Canadian Red Cross can establish direct contact with our men in the hands of the enemy. Food parcels made up in Canada have eased the lot of many a prisoner since this conflict began. Warm clothing and comforts have gone forward to both men in the field, and also to civilians dispossessed and left homeless by the fortunes of war. By its link with the International Red Cross, the Canadian Red Cross has literally the free world for its range; and there are very few corners of it that do not require help or consolation now.

In its current drive to raise $10,000,000 in Canada, $800,000 in British Columbia, and $90,000 in the Greater Victoria area, the Canadian Red Cross has made an excellent start. In this area alone, $18,000 was subscribed on the first two days of the canvass, $26,000 by mid-week, and that amount is daily growing. The campaign, however, will succeed only as it is the wish and purpose of everyone in the community to help it do so. If everyone does his share, the burden will be that much lighter on all. As to the result there can be little question. The Red Cross dollar has 100 cents anywhere in the free world. In this year, particularly, there must be enough of them to go around those obligations which must be encompassed.

SACRIFICE

Those delicate wanderers,
The wind, the star, the cloud,
Ever before mine eyes,
As to an altar bowed,
Light and dew-laden airs
Offer in sacrifice.

The offerings arise:
Hazes of rainbow light,
Pure crystal, blue and gold,
Through dreamland take their flight;
And 'mid the sacrifice
God moveth as of old.

In miracles of fire
He symbols forth his days,
In gleams of crystal light
Reveals what pure pathways
Lead to the soul's desire,
The silence of the height.

TAG DAY FOR CHINA

Sir,—A tag day for the relief of China, long overdue and urged by many of our supporters, will be held on Saturday, March 6, by the Committee for Medical Aid for China.

Suffering in the world is widespread and deep, but those who have borne it the longest are the Chinese. If they had not chosen to resist the Japanese and thereby take on this burden, our fate on the Pacific would have been different. China undertook first to brave terror and death from dive bombers, her millions first became homeless, starving wanderers from enemy enslavement; her children first knew the shock and agony of blitzkrieg, her women first suffered mass humiliation. These ideas originated in Berlin, but were practised first in China and have gone on for nearly six years.

All, we are sure, recognize these facts and acknowledge China's claim to our abundance, only awaiting the opportunity to give and thereby express to our Chinese Allies in a very tangible way our appreciation and encouragement to fight on. This committee offers all this opportunity to give and give generously for, compared to the average Chinese, we are all very rich in material goods.

All money contributed will be sent immediately by cable transfer to Mme. Sun Yat-Sen, chairman of the China Defence League, at Chungking, for the purchase of medical and relief supplies and to assist in the maintenance of orphanages and hospitals.

On this Saturday, besides the attractive tags, antique coins on red ribbons—coins used in China as lucky charms—will be sold by the taggers and should prove of interest.

Prince Edward Branch

F. J. Day presided at a recent meeting of the Prince Edward Branch, Canadian Legion, in the Legion Hall, Langford. It was reported that due to present conditions the Legionary is compelled to increase its subscription rate.

Sharp criticism was voiced regarding the treatment accorded many service men's dependents on the question of procuring fuel since last October, and it is hoped that present conditions will be improved.

The time used is Pacific Standard, for the 120th Meridian west. It is counted from 0 to 24 hours, from midnight to midnight. The figures for height serve to distinguish high water from low water. Where blanks occur in the table, the tide rises or falls continuously during two successive tidal periods without turning.

To find the depth of water on the sill at the Esquimalt Drydock at any tide, add 30 feet to the height of high water as above given.

Two Countries Work Together—Sir Robert Borden has not as yet since his return from Washington issued any statement regarding the conferences at the American capital. Prior to his departure from Washington, Sir Robert stated that his visit to the United States capital had been crowned with success, a common agreement having been reached on questions of vital importance. He indicated that the keynote of these conferences was absolute unanimity in policy, and that the Anglo-Saxon enemies of Germany will henceforth work as one machine not only in the military sense, but from the political and economic standpoint as well.

A Neolithic Knife—Mr. A. Cameron yesterday presented the Provincial Museum with a very interesting find in the shape of a stone cleaver-knife, found last Winter about fifteen miles above Golden. The knife is a well-preserved specimen about one foot in length and four inches wide in the blade. It is made from schistic slatestone, and is completely filled with small garnets. As a sample of the implements made and used by Neolithic man the knife will form an interesting addition to the collection.

The Powder Magazine—Alarm is felt by James Bay residents in consequence of the close proximity of the powder magazine to their dwellings. They say with truth that a Fenian match would blow half the inhabitants into eternity without a moment's warning and without anyone being able to prevent the wicked act. The attention of the Mayor has been called to the peril and steps will be taken to remove the cause of the alarm.

Observation Car

By G.B.

Note from Neil: "Approximately 800 persons live in Wartime Housing, Limited, buildings at Esquimalt. They have no garages for their cars, no telephones, only a few woodsheds, no mail box and no grocery store nearby. Speaking of injustices reminds me of an elderly C.W.A.C. who abandoned her household duties and donned the King's uniform for 90c per day. She performs her duties at Gordon Head, and daily is required to pay street car and bus fares out of her own pocket" . . . There must be a lot of motorists who do not know that automobile dim-out regulations have been modified, judging by the large number who have failed to remove lens covers and paint from their car headlights . . . A Government Street resident gave us an example of the rapidity with which women often change their minds. He said he purchased a large piano at an auction sale, accompanied the instrument home in a moving van with three men, and then proudly strode up his front steps. "What on earth are you bringing that thing home for? You know we have no room for it," his wife chided. Almost with tears in his eyes, he prepared to order the men to take the piano back to the auction rooms. The telephone rang, and his wife called him to take the receiver. On the other end of the line was a man who had been outbidden at the auction sale. "I understand you have that piano at your home. I will give you $50 more than you paid and take care of the moving charges," he said. "Half a minute," replied the piano owner, "while I ask my wife." He told her that she should be happy at the speed with which he stood to make $50. "Tell the men to bring in that piano. You are not going to sell it," his wife commanded.

Home Security Ministry as one of the safest in London. It is located in the tunnels of a subway extension and was used mainly during the heavy raids of 1940-41.

The steps down from the street take a right-angle turn to six more steps leading to the large open landing where the ticket offices are located. The pile-up began at the turn.

Shelter jams are not new to modern warfare, but few incidents approaching this tragedy ever occurred here before.

One such wild crush killed 700 Chinese—mostly women and children—jammed into a Chungking shelter during a Japanese raid the night of June 5, 1941, the greatest number of casualties ever recorded for a single raid. Hundreds of Chinese were trampled to death and others suffocated when piled-up bodies in the entrances cut off ventilation.

Last October 24 a total of 354 persons were killed as the result of what an Italian communique called "excessive overcrowding" in a shelter hit during a big R.A.F. raid on Genoa.

claimed more than a dozen villages west of Rzhev. The fate of German-held Vyazma and Gzhatsk to the south and southeast was not known. It has been assumed that the Germans would abandon those points, finding them untenable now that Rzhev has fallen.

WAS THREAT TO MOSCOW

Smolensk is 135 miles southwest of Rzhev and at the base of a salient that has pointed menacingly at Moscow for more than eighteen months. Early in the Winter, troops who captured Velikie Luki and towns south of Toropets struck to within sixty miles of Smolensk on the north. In the region between Orel and Rzhev other Russian armies were believed to be ever nearer.

The Germans were reported hurling masses of infantry and tanks to stem the new offensive, the ninth in a series of brilliant Russian successes, but the noon communique said crisply that "all counter-attacks were repulsed."

The Germans claimed the capture of Slavyansk, fifty miles north of Stalino in the Donets Basin, and said the bulk of the Russian Third Tank Army was surrounded south of Kharkov. They claimed to have reached the Middle and Upper Donets on a 160-mile front. Fresh Russian attacks northwest of Kursk and northwest of Orel were claimed repulsed.

From recaptured Lgov, where the Red Army is within forty-five miles of the Bryansk-Kiev railway, the Russians said they captured a town, lost it to the counter-attacking Germans, and then regained it by killing 300 Nazis. The army newspaper Red Star said tremendous numbers of German trains loaded with troops and arms moved through Lgov just before its capture.

DANGER TO OREL INCREASED

The fall of Lgov and Dmitriev-Lgovsky, sixty-five miles southwest of Orel, increased the danger of Orel. The Berlin radio admitted the Russians had made local breaches in Orel defences.

West of Rostov the Russians said they "captured the enemy's fortified positions," which might be the defences of Taganrog.

German counter-attacks were reported increasing in number and violence west of Kharkov, where Russian columns are aimed at Kiev, Ukrainian capital on the Dnieper River line.

Embittered fighting continued in the Western Caucasus along an unidentified waterline (probably the Kuban River) as the Russians attempted to erase the last German pocket south of Rostov around Novorossisk. Numerous strong points were reported captured.

The victory at Rzhev must rank along with the triumphs at Stalingrad, Rostov and Kharkov because this stoutly fortified bastion 130 miles west of Moscow had been proclaimed by Hitler as worth half of Berlin.

Red Star said Rzhev was stormed on a six-mile front and that fourteen excellent, veteran Axis divisions of perhaps 70,000 men were driven out. The enemy strength was said to have included nine infantry, three tank and two motorized divisions. The fall of Rzhev threatened to engulf Gzhatsk and Vyazma.

Ottawa Session

There was no better way to assure the morale of Canada than for the Government immediately to bring into effect cost-of-living allowances to old age pensioners.

"We believe this matter of social security is so important that the Government now should appoint a minister of social security and reconstruction, to be charged with the administration of social security measures in this country," said Mr. Diefenbaker.

Prime Minister King, in an address on the motion yesterday, had left "no hope with those who heard him that the recommendations of the committee would be carried into effect in whole or part."

M. J. Coldwell, C.C.F. leader, said in the House tonight that the Canadian record in connection with disease and death is "surely appalling."

Speaking in the same debate, Mr. Coldwell said his information that more than 60,000 men have been discharged or deserted from the armed forces since the start of the war represented "an appalling indictment of conditions in our country."

In any health scheme developed in Canada, nutrition as well as preventive medicine would have to be considered. Malnutrition affected many Canadian residents.

Mr. Coldwell said he hoped adequate provision would be made this year to deal with venereal disease.

PROVIDES $175,000 FOR WORK

Pensions Minister Mackenzie interjected to say an item of $175,000 was being appropriated for this work in the coming fiscal year.

An agreement should be made with the provinces to see that health and other social services could be adequately developed. National health and social security were not provincial problems, and had to be dealt with by the nation. New Zealand and Russian programmes might well be considered by the committee.

Even today in the midst of war the Dominion could not do better than increase the benefits to those who needed the assistance of the state, said Mr. Coldwell.

Mr. Coldwell said it was not enough for the Government to set up a committee to study social insurance and he said he would have preferred to see some action to improve the position of soldiers' dependents and others immediately.

Like John G. Diefenbaker (Prog. Con., Lake Centre), who spoke this afternoon, the C.C.F. leader spoke of objectives set forth in a Liberal platform adopted in 1919 and similar to those mentioned in the Social Security Committee resolution.

Mr. Coldwell said that if the same speed were made with social security committees as had been made with Liberal party proposals, the country would have to wait a long time.

Gain in Africa

loss, a Cairo communique said, and the Germans raided Tripoli Tuesday night.

GERMAN GAIN NOT SERIOUS

The four-mile German gain in the north by the troops of Col.-Gen. Jurgen von Arnim was not viewed as particularly serious since the withdrawal was in part strategic. The British veterans of Dunkerque elected to elude encircling arms of enemy drives pinching them from the south and northeast and took stronger positions in the hills.

In the Hunt's Gap region northeast of Beja, which lies twenty-two miles south of Sedjenane, dispatches from the front said British forces had launched a small counterattack. The First Army was grinding down German material and was estimated by front line correspondents to have destroyed forty of the seventy-five tanks employed by the Germans. Of the fourteen battalions of German infantry British troops were said to have captured two, or about 1,600 men. German losses in killed and wounded were estimated as proportionally high.

Enemy Convoy

Japanese sought to reinforce with the convoyed troops.

Another big aerial blow at Lae was described in today's communique:

"Our heavy units bombed the airdrome during the night. At dawn in a co-ordinated strike, our long-distance fighters and attack units with strong fighter escort swept over Lae and adjacent airdromes in a series of strafing attacks from extreme low level, firing 30,000 rounds from cannon and machine-gun.

"Six enemy fighters caught on the ground while refueling were destroyed together with fuel trucks and large fires were started in the building area. Our covering fighters were challenged by thirty enemy fighters. In the ensuing fight, the enemy was completely out-manoeuvred and seventeen of his planes were shot out of action. Our losses were extremely light."

In the northwestern sector, Allied planes bombed the town of Saumlaki on Tanimbar Island and installations on Maikus Island, starting fires among large accumulations of oil supplies.

According to Culbertson

Bad discarding is probably the greatest single fault of players on defence, accounting for the fulfilment of thousands of contracts that should readily be defeated. South's discarding in the hand shown below, was, I regret to say, more or less typical.

East, dealer.
Both sides vulnerable.

NORTH
♠ J 10 8

SOUTH

♥ A 10
♦ A J 9 7 4
♣ J 3

The bidding:

East	South	West	North
1 ♥	Pass	2 NT	Pass
3 NT	Pass	Pass	Pass

Obviously, the East-West hands were bid "to the hilt."

North opened the deuce of clubs, far from a wise choice. The spade jack would have been an ideal opening. The club lead was ducked in dummy and South's jack was taken with the king. The heart eight was led and allowed to ride, South winning with the ten. Now South returned the seven of diamonds, not a bad play, but one which had unfortunate results. Declarer ducked, as did North, and the diamond king won. A low spade was led to the ace, and the club nine was led through North, who naturally refused to cover. However, the nine was allowed to ride and held. Now the club four was led to the ace and at this point South made a fatal discard. Apparently, he pinned his faith on bringing home his entire diamond suit; at any rate, he stubbornly clung to every diamond and let go a spade. Declarer now re-entered his own hand with a spade to the queen and cashed the club king, South this time parting with one of his beloved diamonds. Another spade to the king reduced South to the heart ace and the A-J-9 of diamonds. Now when a diamond was led from dummy, South could have redeemed himself by playing the nine spot. But he was afraid that declarer might make the blank queen, hence he jumped up with the diamond ace, thereby neatly dropping his own partner's queen, after which he could cash only the heart ace and the diamond jack. Then he had to surrender the diamond nine to declarer's ten, which became the fulfilling trick.

Obviously, many things had contributed to the success of this contract. First, North's opening lead; second, South's failure to hold his fourth spade and discard a diamond; third, and finally, South's play of the diamond ace, which had left him with a losing instead of a winning diamond. But of all the errors, South's failure to hang on to all of his spades was the most glaring.

Russian People in Hard Battle on Home Front

Big Problems Are Heat, Light and Food—No Clothes for Civilians—Seven-Day Work Week

By HENRY C. CASSIDY
Associated Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, March 4 (AP).—Life for the people of the Soviet Union in this war is a battle, as hard as the one the Red Army is putting up on the front. As a Moscow housekeeper myself, for the twenty months of war, I can tell you something about it.

The big problems are heat, light and food.

This has been a comparatively mild Winter there, but the temperature has been down to nineteen degrees below zero, Fahrenheit, and there has been no coal for civilians. The output from mines not wrecked or occupied goes to war industries.

Last Autumn, the Moscow Soviet decided that only part of the apartment houses could be heated, and persons living in others should move in with their neighbors. Moving was actually started when the situation was saved by as heroic an undertaking as any of this war.

WOMEN WORKED IN FORESTS

About 80,000 women were mobilized, those not in war work and who had no children eight years old or younger. They went into the forests around Moscow, chopped and hauled wood, and provided enough fuel to give the entire capital, limited, but sufficient, heat.

Electric lighting is severely rationed. Only a single bulb is permitted for each room, limited to twenty-five watts for an average living-room or kitchen, and sixteen watts for halls and washrooms. The penalty for violation of this rule may be a fine of 1,000 rubles (officially $200) or loss of electricity for the duration of the war.

Basic food rations provide daily a pound of bread, and monthly four pounds of meat, or fish, four pounds of rice, one pound of sugar and one pound of butter. Meat tickets usually bring sausage or herring. Chocolate candies are sometimes issued instead of sugar, vegetable oil instead of butter, and potatoes instead of rice.

In addition, milk, vegetables and meat may be bought on the markets where collective farmers are permitted to sell their surplus products at competitive prices.

TEA IS PURE HOT WATER

I have been solemnly invited to drop in for tea, and upon doing so, been handed a glass of pure hot water and a piece of candy through which to sip it. If you use your imagination, it is a tasty drink.

The clothes you wear in Moscow are the ones you always had, or that someone left you. The clothing industry works entirely for the Red Army. The shops are bare.

Transportation is less of a problem. For persons engaged in essential work, twenty-five gallons of gasoline a month are provided. For others, there are buses, street cars and the subway.

Perhaps the toughest task of all is having the washing done. My Moscow ration is two cakes of soap a month, and on that basis, you think twice before changing your shirt.

Work is on a twelve-hour day, seven-day week basis. All social reforms, including the five-day, thirty-five-hour work week and paid vacations, have been abandoned for the duration.

The additional work has brought increased compensation. The average pay of a Russian worker, before the war, was estimated at about 300 rubles (officially $60) a month. This has been swelled by pay for overtime work and lost vacations.

Rotary Head Speaks Here

The principles of Rotary should dominate the peace, and International Rotary, through its 209,000 members under fifty-eight different flags, can have a tremendous influence in the world today, stated J. Raymond Tiffany, of Hoboken, New Jersey, and this year's first vice-president of International Rotary, at a luncheon of the Rotary Club of Victoria held in the Empress Hotel yesterday.

Mr. Tiffany gave an interesting review of the growth of Rotary and the rapid strides it has taken in the last few years, especially in South America where the new president of Rotary International, Don Fernando Carbajol, of Lima, Peru (the noted engineer), has organized twenty-nine new clubs.

The guest speaker said that Rotary had a philosophy that brought understanding, and, if permitted to dominate the peace, would solve many of the problems that cause war. He gave a vivid illustration of how Rotary develops understanding, taking the Rotary Club of Palestine which was faced with the problem of bringing Arabs and Jews and Englishmen together in a real fellowship. There an Arab risks his life if he walks among Jews alone, and vice versa, but when bombing became heavy and there was danger of panic, it was an Arab Rotarian who suggested that they show the people the days of peace would come by leaving their meeting-place together. "And so the Arab and the Jew walked out arm in arm," he said.

LABOR PROBLEMS

Discussing the problems of labor and capital which are so prominent today, Mr. Tiffany told what was being done by Rotarians toward solving them, and claimed that if laborers were considered as human beings who deserve a share in the business they help build, instead of as a commodity, many difficulties could be avoided.

We are too much on the materialistic side, and if Rotary will help to recreate the spiritual values that the world has lost, we will come out of this turmoil, and the earth will be a better place to live in, said Mr. Tiffany.

The speaker was introduced by Percy Scurrah, who told over 100 members and friends of Rotary gathered there, that Mr. Tiffany's long experience in Rotary and in politics made him particularly capable of discussing the subject he had chosen, "Do We Deserve to Win?" President Frank Turley was in the chair.

Mr. Tiffany is an attorney who has been district court judge and assistant attorney-general of the State of New Jersey, and is at present general counsel to the Interstate Sanitation Commission of three states.

Education Survey In Province Urged By Thomas Uphill

Assurance of the Minister of Education that the Government would establish a commission to go into the financing of education and bring in recommendation at the next session was asked by Thomas Uphill (Labor, Fernie) in the Legislature last night.

Mr. Uphill unfolded a gloomy picture as he described the lot of rural school teachers, "burdened down with troubles, trials and tribulations," as he put it.

"I would like to see more school teachers affiliated with labor organizations, for that is their only salvation," he told the House.

He was amazed and disappointed, he said, with the results of recent observations. The difficulties and disappointments that teachers went through, the discrimination shown to favored employees by school boards in the matter of salaries and treatment was unbelievable, he said.

"This is something that should be rectified," he argued.

Mr. Uphill then turned his attention to civil servants and charged there had been discrimination in the awarding of jobs to persons without experience at the expense of competent governmental employees.

"Are you the man that was married in a cage of lions?"

"I'm the man."

"Did it seem exciting?"

"It did then. It wouldn't now."

Island Military Roads Deplorable Asserts Finland

Ottawa Responsible Legislature Told

Ottawa has failed to understand and appreciate its essential responsibility for the maintenance of military roads on Vancouver Island, Sqdn. Ldr. K. V. Finland (Con., Esquimalt) charged in the Legislature last night.

roads and they are in a shocking condition," he asserted.

"I can't understand the attitude of the Provincial Government and the Department of Public Works in that they do not force on the attention of Ottawa that something must be done. Only continuous and vehement action will get results," he insisted.

Sqdn. Ldr. Finland also charged that Ottawa had failed to obtain and distribute labor for essential industries in British Columbia. Farmers were most in need of help, he said.

URGES BONUS OR GRANT TO AID FARMERS

"How it is to be supplied is not for me to prescribe," he declared. "It must inevitably come in the form of some kind of a bonus or extra grant to place them in a position to obtain that essential labor."

Regarding the evacuation of the Japanese after the war, Sqdn. Ldr. Finland said that while he felt that evacuation was the desirable thing, he was also apprehensive of urging that procedure too strongly at the present time.

"I feel that this problem will be solved by the results in other fields of this global war, but it requires the continuous attention of this Government."

Sqdn. Ldr. Finland extended to the City of Victoria felicitations on the 100th anniversary of its founding.

NO FUEL RATIONING

SEATTLE, March 4 (AP).—National headquarters for the firewood branch of the O.P.A.'s fuel rationing division were opened today with assurance from the executive in charge that "no firewood rationing is contemplated at this time." Should rationing be decided upon in the future, said Milton L. Hersey, chief of the new branch, its start would have to await completion of a fact-finding survey.

BOER VETERAN DIES

NANAIMO, B.C., March 4 (CP).—John Burns Scott, seventy, is dead here. Born in Scotland he was a printer by trade and has lived in this district for twenty-five years. He served in the Scots Guards in the Boer War and when taken prisoner by the Boers, he was in the same prison camp as Winston Churchill.

Pioneer of City Dies in Hospital

R. B. Punnett Lived Here Fifty Years

Raymond Bellingers Punnett, well-known retired real estate agent, who came to Victoria fifty-three years ago, died yesterday morning at the Royal Jubilee Hospital, following an illness of two weeks. He was seventy-one years of age.

Born in Bombay, India, he was educated at Highgate School and Oxford University, leaving England for Canada at the age of eighteen. Before entering the real estate business in Victoria he was registrar at the Courthouse here for some time.

He married in Victoria a native daughter, Miss Sylvia Jenns, whose father, Rev. Percival Jenns, ministered to many pioneers of the city at the old St. John's Anglican Church, which stood where the Hudson's Bay Company store is located. It was known as "The Old Iron Church," being built of iron plates which were shipped round the Horn from England and assembled here.

A member of the Union and Pacific Clubs, Mr. Punnett was prominent for years in Conservative party circles.

He is survived by his widow at the family residence, 1044 McClure Street; five sons, F. B. A., in Fresno, Calif.; Lionel S., Victoria; Raymond C., Seattle; Jack E., San Francisco, and S. P., Bremerton, Wash., and one daughter, Miss Susan V., formerly of the British Embassy in Tokio, now in England.

Funeral will be held on Saturday, leaving Hayward's B.C. Funeral Chapel at 1:45 p.m. for St. John's Church, where services will be conducted by Rev. George Biddle at 2 o'clock. Interment will take place in the family plot in Ross Bay Cemetery.

MANY VICTORY GARDENS

CHILLIWACK, B.C., March 4 (CP).—Judging from the bumper crop of applicants for pasture and garden lots, victory gardens will be the fashion this year in Chilliwack. Twelve people have applied for use of sixteen lots, plus acreage totaling thirty acres. The council has made nine deals and the city exchequer will profit to the extent of $196.

DIED

Royal Canadian Engineers—Lieut. Edward Victor Polley, Toronto; Sgt. James McArthur, Toronto.

Central Ontario Regiment—Pte. Frank Lloyd Wayner, Toronto.

Royal Canadian Army—Service Corps—K76281 Pte. Alexander Ankity, Mrs. Julia Ankity (wife), Canford, B.C.

Canadian Forestry Corps—Pte. Alexander McPherson, Belfast, P.E.I.

MISSING, PRESUMED TO HAVE DIED

Headquarters Units—Major Herbert Bruke Munro, Ottawa.

DANGEROUSLY ILL

HAY DESTROYED

WOODLAKE, Neb., March 4 (AP).—At least 5,000 tons of hay were destroyed in a prairie fire yesterday in this sandhills region—one of the richest cattle-producing areas in the Western United States. The fire, covering a strip thirty-five miles long and two to three miles wide, was the worst in Cherry County history. More than 1,000 ranchers and helpers battled the fire for eight hours before it was brought under control.

CHILLIWACK, B.C., March 4 (CP).—The volunteer fire department here is out of luck—there just haven't been enough fires. A certain amount of the department funds for administrative expenses and insurance is earned by firemen answering alarms. For several years now fires have been at the minimum and the brigade has hardly enough money to buy stamps." Alderman J. P. Robertson told the city council recently.

Plans for Luncheon Made by Chapter

Final arrangements for the centenary luncheon to be held at the Empress Hotel on March 15 were made at the meeting of Sir James and Lady Douglas Chapter, I.O.D.E., held yesterday afternoon at headquarters, Mrs. A. S. Christie, the regent, presiding.

It was announced that His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor will attend the luncheon, as well as Premier John Hart and Mayor Andrew McGavin. The special guest speaker will be Bruce A. McKelvie, president of the B.C. Historical Society and well-known speaker. The musical programme will be given by Mrs. W. H. Wilson and Gunner Charles Hovey, with Mr. George Peaker at the piano. Incidental music will be played by Mrs. A. C. Cowan.

A feature of the occasion will be the presentation by the Premier to Mayor McGavin of an oil painting of Sir James Douglas, to be hung in the council chamber of the City Hall. The luncheon is part of the centenary celebrations planned to honor the birthday of Victoria, and tickets are available from all members of the chapter. The public is invited and it is hoped that relatives of old-time families will attend. It was stressed at the meeting that no tickets will be procurable after March 14.

Another interesting announcement made stated that the historic booklet compiled by the Victoria Branch of the B.C. Historical Society and sponsored by the Sir James and Lady Douglas Chapter, I.O.D.E., is now in the printers' hands and will be ready in a few days' time.

The amount asked for the delegates' expense pool was voted on. The war service convener's report was given by Mrs. J. T. Construction of new laboratories at the University of British Columbia for diagnosis and treatment of venereal diseases.

Establishment of a steel industry as a war and postwar undertaking.

More orderly marketing of potatoes through a committee composed of a representative each from the consumer, producer and Government.

A four-point resolution recommending:

Establishment of a cancer institute and clinic with free diagnosis and treatments for people with that disease.

Development by the nutrition branch of the Federal Department of Health of a formula for using fortified flour with Vitamin B, riboflavin and Vitamin C, so necessary to good health, in bread manufactured and sold by bakeries throughout Canada.

All industries providing food for employees to conform to certain minimum standards in such services and at reasonable costs to workers, also that definite and regular rest periods for workers be taken into consideration by such industries.

VICTORIA MEMBER GUEST SPEAKER

Mrs. Nancy Hodges, M.P.P., was guest speaker following luncheon, and gave an interesting and comprehensive outline of the findings of the British Columbia Postwar Reconstruction Council, which, she was careful to point out, has no authority to execute plans, but is a summing-up of some 126 recommendations, forming what the speaker termed "A People's Charter of British Columbia."

In her speech Mrs. Hodges dealt briefly with recommendations for the rehabilitation of returned men and women, which included the land settlement plan, vocational training, and she spoke of the council's recommendations for social security, bracketing under this heading health, housing and nutrition. Applause greeted the speaker when she related she was strongly in favor of an experienced woman being appointed on the board.

Representing the Women's Regional Advisory Committee, Mrs. Paul Smith suggested the Local Council of Women might educate the public's opinion to the ethics of fairly sharing food supplies. This to inculcate a spirit of co-operation.

Mrs. Alfred Carmichael reported from the National Film Board, pointing out that more films are now being made in Canada and that there is now in the Carnegie Library a film library, with projector and operator available so that films may be seen.

OCCUPATIONS FOR DEMOBILIZED WOMEN

Mrs. Thomas Bingham spoke regarding films and the midnight shows, which she asserted are attended by 75 per cent war workers, although the churches are not in favor of these entertainments. Mrs. Bingham also asked the members to fill in before March 19 a form issued by Dr. G. M. Weir, Department of Pensions and National Health, which will give a consensus of opinion regarding the occupations to meet the special needs of demobilized women as well as the normal future requirements, so far as jobs for females are concerned, of industry and the professions.

Reports from the seven Local Councils of Women were given: Mrs. Richmond, Chilliwack; Mrs. Fitzwater, Kamloops; Mrs. A. Denton, Nanaimo; Mrs. Amy, New Westminster; Mrs. Fiddes, North Shore; Mrs. Simms, Vancouver, and Mrs. I. W. Fleming, Victoria.

Mrs. Alfred Carmichael reported as corresponding secretary, stating 150 letters had been issued. Mrs. F. W. Haggman, treasurer, reported there is $150.71 on hand. Mrs. Simms gave the report of the courtesy committee.

CO-OPERATION KEYNOTE OF SUCCESS

Dr. Olga Jardine, in her presidential address, said: "I think if we are going to achieve anything of real worth and value we must work as a united body. Co-operation is the keynote to success," she urged "forget personalities and get down to work, to co-operate." She said "there is one goal of achievement, the major effort to win the war." Nutrition was included in the president's remarks—she suggested the members bring before the layman the rules and values of nutrition. Mrs. Bingham, on behalf of the meeting, thanked Dr. Jardine and presented her with a book.

The morning session was marked by the visit of Alderman E. Williams, in the unavoidable absence of the Mayor, who brought greetings from the City Council. A letter was read regarding the Women's Civilian Recruiting Committee, which is in need of 3,000 enlistees between the ages of eighteen and forty-five years who will serve in various war activities.

Attorney-General Urges Support of Red Cross Drive

"THE Canadian Red Cross Society is once more making its appeal for funds," Hon. R. L. Maitland, K.C., Attorney-General of British Columbia, stated yesterday in support of the drive.

"It affords a great opportunity for every citizen to participate in the noble work of the Red Cross. Every day of the war brings home to us the fact that there will be more and more need for this great body to administer to the wounded, the sick, the hungry and the homeless.

"We, in this Western province, have not directly felt the shock of bombs nor the scorch of fire nor the suffering that has visited so many parts of the world and about which we can do very little except through the Red Cross.

"It is a privilege to offer my whole-hearted support in this campaign."

Interesting Speakers Heard By Diocesan Board of W.A.

"The Opening Door of Christian Opportunity" was the topic of the address given by Rev. H. Harding Priest, Western Field secretary of the General Board of Religious Education before the Columbia Diocesan Board of the W.A. at the morning session yesterday in St. Mary's Hall, Oak Bay.

Emphasizing the personal responsibility one should feel toward religion the speaker declared there is a closer relation between Christians the world over now than at any time during the last thirty-three years. While the rest of the world had been divided the Christian church has been drawing closer together, Rev. Mr. Priest asserted. Everywhere the doors of Christian opportunity are opening as evidenced by the interest now shown in Anglo-Saxon countries in religious education, forward steps having been made in Canada during the last two years, the speaker stated. "Now is the time for a Christian effort to bring about religious education in the schools," Mr. Priest declared in closing.

REPORTS ARE READ

The session opened with Scripture reading conducted by Mrs. E. F. Musgrave, of Cowichan Station, followed by reports submitted by the secretaries of different groups. Mothers' Union, Mrs. W. P. Bassett; girls' secretary, Mrs. F. Goodwin, reported 140 members enrolled and three new leaders welcomed during the past year. The sub of $201.17 was raised and many articles made for the Dorcas department. Hospital supplies and woollies were donated to the babies' chest. The junior secretary, Mrs. R. C. Keane, reported on the Boys' League and gave the junior report. There are now 336 members enrolled which is quite an increase over last year. The juniors raised by various means the sum of $306.13 and have done splendid work for the Dorcas department. Little Helpers' secretary, Mrs. E. J. Harris, reported 1,277 members enrolled, an increase of almost 600 in five years.

Deaconess M. Simcox conducted the noonday prayer and also reported that nine life memberships were presented during the year.

Lady Lake reported on the Theological College bursaries showing that the interest in the fund had been maintained and $300 had been sent to the college. There are at present twenty-one students and some of the cleverest could not have continued their studies without the aid of this fund it was pointed out by Lady Lake.

AFTERNOON SESSION

Following the opening prayer led by Mrs. Hebert Cook, of Comox, the delegates were addressed by Rev. W. N. Turner, of St. Mary's Church, Saanichton, who chose for his subject "The Church Militant." Comparing the church to a modern army the speaker pointed out that in many ways the church was understaffed and under-equipped, which in an army could only mean disaster. He said "in some ways the church has lost its youth." There is one difference between an army and the church militant, while youth is necessary in both, it is the young in spirit who are necessary in the church. That, speaking generally, is the lack in the church militant today." Mr. Turner declared the remedy lies in training the young people and that is where the special work of the Diocesan Board of Religious Education is so important. The Sunday school-by-post is doing a splendid work in bringing to those persons who live in remote districts a sound religious training. Mr. Turner felt the church should not only depend on letters and papers to distribute religious knowledge but should arrange radio broadcasts suitable for boys and girls.

CHINESE WORK IS REVIEWED

Rev. Clarence Lee in his brief review of the Chinese work carried on in Victoria stated that conditions had improved during the last half of the year but due to the unfavorable location of the present mission the work is hampered. Progress was reported, however, as evidenced by the number of baptisms, the candidates ranging from infants to adults up to seventy-five years of age. Mr. Lee expressed the hope that work on a new building will soon be started.

EVENING SESSION AT ST. MARY'S

At the evening session of the annual meeting of the W.A. to the M.S.S.C. the delegates had the opportunity of hearing a most interesting account of the development of the Indian Residential School, of Alert Bay, where some 200 pupils are trained annually, given by F. E. Anfield, superintendent of the school. The talk was illustrated by motion pictures.

Miss H. Hellaby also spoke on her work among Chinese children. She deplored the fact that those children were in a state of flux between two civilizations; they felt the pull of the older Chinese culture embodied by their parents and the Chinese schools they attended after public school hours, and at the mission schools and among their companions they learned Canadian ways. This had a disintegrating effect on their characters, but in spite of this they were learning to be happier and to live better lives.

Miss Hellaby told of the fine work the church was doing and of the tireless social workers. The effects were showing in the homes the younger generation were creating for themselves. Her own experiences with two Chinese wards proved to be very interesting to her large audience.

Following this talk, Mr. Anfield showed several fine views of the residential school and of the children at work. "Tremendous improvements have taken place in our school," he said. The children who used to be in Grade I for years now get through Grade VIII at fourteen, and every year they are successful in their examinations.

The preventorium adjacent to the school is the work of twelve boys who had manual training at the school. It is a fine building, holding twenty beds. The boys have also built boats and many other things. They learn to run the machinery on the farm and leave the school with a good all-around training.

This year five girl graduates of the school are on the staff and are proving to be very capable and admirable. These girls usually work side by side with white women in the canneries during the Summer.

Mr. Anfield deplored the failure of the Government and the church to continue the work beyond school age, and claimed that with a little planning and more trained personnel a great deal could be done to help the Indian enjoy equal opportunity and success with the white citizens.

"I see in the future a glorified social-medical clinic that will take the place of our residential schools and accomplish far more", stated the speaker.

The Alert Bay Indian Residential School is the largest school of its kind in Canada.

At the evening session also, Mrs. Hewitt, hospital convener, gave her annual report showing clothing received to the value of $115, and that distributed to the various mission hospitals as $165.

Miss Rathbone told the delegates gathered what new literature there was on hand and could be procured by any group requiring it.

Prisoners of War Are Thankful for Red Cross Parcels

From behind the barbed-wire boundaries that enclose their little world, Canadian lads who have become prisoners of war, write to say what they think about the job the Canadian Red Cross is doing in providing food parcels to keep them alive and well.

Here are excerpts from actual letters:

"I am a prisoner-of-war. I am safe and sound and not wounded. I need your help through the medium of the Red Cross to obtain what I need to eat, clothe myself and smoke."

"I am a prisoner-of-war. I am not wounded. Health and morale excellent. They have put us in an organized camp. Thanks to the Red Cross parcels two or three times per week, we eat enough to live. We do our own cooking. Keep smiling."

"It's not going much better since I am in my real camp. We are eating more, thanks to the Red Cross."

"I am safe and sound. I am a prisoner-of-war but we are well enough. We have the Red Cross helping us very much."

"The Red Cross are still faithful friends and deserve all the support they can get."

"The Red Cross parcels are what we make our meals on."

"These prison camps are not bad. The Red Cross sure is doing good work here."

"Our food is fair but it is the Red Cross food parcels which help us out. Round about Christmas a lot of Canadian parcels came in and they were the best we have had yet."

"Thank God for the Red Cross! It is a bit trying eating out of tin cans with one's fingers."

"As you know, I was taken in only shirt and underpants. All goes well thanks to Red Cross parcels and other food parcels which the British share with us. It will be a great day when ours start coming through. They are vital."

"I'm in a German hospital (English staffed) nursing a broken right arm . . . souvenir of Dieppe. Being well treated, thanks to Red Cross."

"It is with a prayer of thankfulness that I write these few words. I thank God that we have a Red Cross in this troubled world. I am really doing fine now."

ROBBED WOMAN DRIVER

KAMLOOPS, B.C., March 4 (CP).—Last week a nursing sister driving along the highway en route to Vernon gave a soldier and companion in "civies" a lift as far as Kamloops. When they got out she looked on the seat beside her. Four $20 bills were gone from her purse. Police picked up the hitch hikers in Kamloops. The lad in uniform was not implicated but the boy in "civies" pleaded guilty and was sentenced to six months in jail.

Following this a social evening was enjoyed and refreshments were served.

SIR JAMES DOUGLAS

The Sir James Douglas P.-T.A. met recently in the school auditorium. Mrs. W. H. Yardley, the president, in the chair. The guest speaker was Mr. Robert Heywood, of the Victoria High School staff, who gave an interesting and instructive address. Miss Margaret Husband sang two delightful solos. The members were reminded of the broadcast to be given over CJVI on Monday, March 15, at 7 o'clock, by the Drama Club. On Tuesday, March 16, at 8 o'clock, the teachers will hold a card party in the school auditorium.

Charming Operetta Given by Members Of Church Choir

Prettily costumed in the style of "Merrie England," in the days of Robin Hood, the members of the First United Church Choir presented the refreshing operetta, "Sherwood's Queen," by T. Mee Pattison, on Wednesday evening before a large audience assembled in the church hall.

George H. Peaker directed the music and Mrs. Lily Wilson arranged the costumes and folk dances, the latter being a most colorful feature of the performance.

The principal roles were sung by: J. Maurice Thomas as Robin Hood; Lily Wilson, Marian; Carol Menzies, Alice; Captain Frank Petrie, Little John; Captain Callum Thompson, Allan a Dale; Irene Nash, a widow, and Ernest MacGinnis as Friar Tuck.

The dancers appearing were: Mary Wright, Jean Morrison, Helen Porter, Joyce Applegate, Bobby Murray, Georgina McKay, Nancy Wilson, Marnie Wilson.

Prior to the operetta the musical programme given by the following members of the choir was greatly appreciated, Peggy Sutherland, Violet Gilham, C.W.A.C., Captain Frank Petrie, Marjorie Goodwin, and a quartette, Lily Wilson, Carol Menzies, J. M. Thomas and J. Loudoun.

Proceeds were in aid of the church music fund.

Prisoners of War Are Thankful for Red Cross Parcels

From behind the barbed-wire boundaries that enclose their little world, Canadian lads who have become prisoners of war, write to say what they think about the job the Canadian Red Cross is doing in providing food parcels to keep them alive and well.

Here are excerpts from actual letters:

"I am a prisoner-of-war. I am safe and sound and not wounded. I need your help through the medium of the Red Cross to obtain what I need to eat, clothe myself and smoke."

"I am a prisoner-of-war. I am not wounded. Health and morale excellent. They have put us in an organized camp. Thanks to the Red Cross parcels two or three times per week, we eat enough to live. We do our own cooking. Keep smiling."

"It's not going much better since I am in my real camp. We are eating more, thanks to the Red Cross."

"I am safe and sound. I am a prisoner-of-war but we are well enough. We have the Red Cross helping us very much."

"The Red Cross are still faithful friends and deserve all the support they can get."

"The Red Cross parcels are what we make our meals on."

"These prison camps are not bad. The Red Cross sure is doing good work here."

"Our food is fair but it is the Red Cross food parcels which help us out. Round about Christmas a lot of Canadian parcels came in and they were the best we have had yet."

"Thank God for the Red Cross! It is a bit trying eating out of tin cans with one's fingers."

"As you know, I was taken in only shirt and underpants. All goes well thanks to Red Cross parcels and other food parcels which the British share with us. It will be a great day when ours start coming through. They are vital."

"I'm in a German hospital (English staffed) nursing a broken right arm . . . souvenir of Dieppe. Being well treated, thanks to Red Cross."

"It is with a prayer of thankfulness that I write these few words. I thank God that we have a Red Cross in this troubled world. I am really doing fine now."

Suda Bay, on the north coast of Crete, is one of the most spacious natural harbors on the Mediterranean.

ROBBED WOMAN DRIVER

KAMLOOPS, B.C., March 4 (CP).—Last week a nursing sister driving along the highway en route to Vernon gave a soldier and companion in "civies" a lift as far as Kamloops. When they got out she looked on the seat beside her. Four $20 bills were gone from her purse. Police picked up the hitch hikers in Kamloops. The lad in uniform was not implicated but the boy in "civies" pleaded guilty and was sentenced to six months in jail.

● Even with rationing there's no need to drink insipid, wishy-washy tea. For Lipton's . . . a blend which includes select "small leaf" teas grown exclusively in Lipton's own gardens in Ceylon . . . is so rich and satisfying . . . so fine in flavour . . . that it not only makes every cup of tea more satisfying but gives you more cups per coupon.

RECTAL SORENESS AND PILE TORTURE QUICKLY RELIEVED

If you are troubled with itching piles or rectal soreness, do not delay treatment and run the risk of letting this condition become chronic. Any itching or soreness or painful passage of stool is nature's warning and proper treatment should be secured at once.

For this purpose get a package of Hem-Rold from Modern Pharmacy or Cunningham Drug Store, or any druggist, and use as directed. This formula, which is used internally, is a small, easy to take tablet, will quickly relieve the itching and soreness and aid in healing the sore, tender spots. Hem-Rold is pleasant to use, is highly recommended, and it seems the height of folly for anyone to risk a painful and chronic pile condition when such a fine remedy may be had at such a small cost.

If you try Hem-Rold and are not entirely pleased with the results, your druggist will gladly return your money. (Adv.)

NO. 71—EIGHTY-FIFTH YEAR VICTORIA, BRITISH COLUMBIA, FRIDAY, MARCH 5, 1943

Glancing Over Sport—

By JOE DELAHUNTY

ARMY FOURTEEN

That's yours truly's prediction for tonight's hockey game between the Army and Royal Canadian Air Force as the teams resume their British Columbia senior play-off series at the Willows Arena. In the opener I took the soldiers by half a dozen goals, and most people laughed, but they won by nine clear lengths. Along came the second battle and I went for a 9-2 score and what happened? Both clubs just kept going on until they doubled that total. So, for this evening, J. D. has a strong hunch that he is going to be close when the final goals are totaled in the press box.

Don't be a bit surprised if Gordon Hunter isn't guarding the net for the airmen and that Paul Platz, a useful man on anybody's team, isn't playing either on the defence or on one of the forward positions. The flyers are desperate and they know they will have to pull off a "miracle" to beat the troops, so in that case they will make any kind of replacements from the material available in the R.C.A.F. camp here.

Army are half way to Calgary at this writing and when the dust clears tonight about 10:30 they will be a third of the way to the Prairie city. After Saturday night, Warburton's squad will be in Victoria in body but in Calgary in hockey spirit, marking time for the next series in their search for the Allan Cup.

Army 14, R.C.A.F. 3, and don't say I didn't tell you gamblers so.

ODDS AND ENDS

Willie Joyce, practically an unknown in the ring, steps out and temporarily halts the comeback trail of Henry Armstrong, known a few years ago from coast to coast as "perpetual motion," but he didn't gain much by it outside of victory. Mr. Joyce received a fractured jaw and will be on the shelf for at least two months. It just goes to show that Hammering Hank still packs plenty of dynamite in those once flailing clippers of his . . . Victoria Army cagers made a host of friends in the services basketball tournament, despite the fact they lost out in the final round to Fort Lewis by ten points. It may have been a different story if Gunner Hank Rowe, one of Victoria's heroes at the raid on Dieppe last August, wasn't forced from the game in the second half due to injuries. Hank was going great guns when he went to the side lines. Army led at the change-over by six points but started to slip behind when Gunner Hank went out . . . Talking about Rowe, I didn't know until this week that he couldn't swim. I thought a fine athlete like Hank would be at home in the water, but he is just the opposite, outside of the bath tub. "It was his inability to swim that most likely saved his life," his father told me the other day when talking about Hank's escape from the shores of France last Summer . . . If it wasn't for those fights in the last period the other night in New Westminster between Army and Flyer hockey players, the fans would have been home and in bed long before the agony was over. It must have been funny to see a little fellow like Jimmy Lowe trying to swap blows with Bobo Bobrocky . . . Jimmy kept on weaving in and Bobo kept right on laughing . . . Of the nineteen penalties handed out, five of them were majors and all dished out for fistic displays.

FROM HERE AND THERE

This evening at the High School gymnasium the first game of the senior men's basketball final will be run off with the Army hoopsters facing their arch rivals from the Royal Canadian Air Force . . . With Busher Jackson and "Porky" Andrews gone from the Flyers' camp, a lot of high-powered scoring punch will be missing, there's little question about that . . . All season the soldiers were unable to turn back the airmen, although on three occasions they came within a basket of taking the decision . . . Army will be out in full force to get the jump on their rivals in this important series, the survivors of which will meet the Mainland champions for the provincial crown . . . The chips will be down this evening and you basketball fans know how Chapman, Rowe, Peden and Nicol can play ball when there's something in sight, so I am going out on the limb and take the Army by four field goals . . . A reminder to the football fans, don't forget it is "juvenile day" at the Athletic Park tomorrow afternoon, so make it your business to be at the enclosure to aid the senior soccer players of "tomorrow." You will see how the youngsters play in the curtain raiser and then can sit back and watch V.M.D. battling it out with R.A.F. in an important Garrison Cup match.

CITY STILL ON MAP, FERGIE

Hockey fans in the city are still burned up at that Hot Stove League broadcast which came from Toronto last Saturday night in which Bill Carse and Chuck Rayner were featured via the hook-up in Vancouver. Elmer Ferguson, sports editor for many years of The Montreal Herald, did the interviewing and I quote: "We will now take you to Vancouver, the farthest point in Western Canada, to pick up Carse and Rayner, come in Vancouver." "Fergie" has been around the sports front long enough to know that there is such a town farther west than Vancouver and it happens to be called Victoria, according to all the maps of the Dominion I have ever looked at. Not once in the broadcast did Mr. Ferguson mention Victoria, and to think of it our Dominoes won the Canadian hoop title last year in Montreal, and surely "Fergie" must have known they came from our fair city. I often wonder if the people in Quebec know there is such a place as Vancouver Island.

Jack Favored Over Zivic This Evening

Colored Fighter Picked to Beat Veteran Ringster

NEW YORK, March 4 (AP).—There will probably be about $70,000 in the Madison Square Garden cash registers when Fritzie Zivic bumps into Beau Jack tomorrow night in their return go.

When you add the jackpot Promoter Mike Jacobs expects for the twelve-rounder to all the heavy sugar Zivic has attracted to the Garden in the past you don't need a certified public accountant to come up with the answer that Fritzie is just about the most consistent money-maker Jacobs Beach has seen in quite a piece.

This time, the cash customers are falling over each other to contribute to a tussle in which the bouncing Beau is a 5-to-16 favorite. The Beau belted Fritzie soundly the last time they collided—just a month ago. Something new had to be added for this one naturally. So two more rounds were tacked on the end as a concession to the way Zivic came along in the late going of their first fight.

Zivic has been a drawing card here ever since he came out of Pittsburgh in 1939. He was supposedly a washed-up warrior then and they brought him here to serve as a playmate for Henry Armstrong who had just about run out of opponents. Zivic, figured as just a punching bag for Henry, punched back enough to upset the dope and since then he has been Jacob's box office attraction.

FORT DIX, N.J., March 4 (AP).—Ray (Sugar) Robinson, leading challenger for the world welterweight boxing championship, is in the army. Known as Pte. Walter Smith, he began active duty here yesterday and was assigned to a processing unit. He hopes to become a member of the air forces ground crew.

BOSTON, March 4 (AP).—Jackie Callura, of Hamilton, Ont., will defend the National Boxing Association's version of the world featherweight boxing title against Jackie Wilson, of Pittsburgh, his predecessor, in a fifteen-round bout here March 18, it was announced tonight by Eddie Mack, matchmaker for the Boston Boxing Association.

Mack said Callura, who defeated Wilson for his title in Providence, R.I., last January 18, signed for a $40,000 guarantee and a 45 per cent privilege. Wilson accepted the usual challenger's 12 1-2 percentage.

GOALIE ART RICE-JONES

FORMER net custodian for the Calgary Stampeders, who has been performing brilliantly for the Army puckchasers in league and play-off hockey fixtures. Since he joined the soldier club late in the season, Rice-Jones has only been on the wrong end of the score once. He will be "back at the old stand" tonight at the Willows Arena when the "red hot" Army squad meets Vancouver Royal Canadian Air Force in the third game of the best-of-seven series for the Coast title and the right to advance in the Allan Cup play-downs. Troops are leading the Mainlanders with two victories in as many starts, and are hot favorites to end the series in straight fixtures here. Local hockey fans have always had a lot of respect for the smart Army club, and with the boys hitting championship form, they will be out in large numbers to see them in action again this evening. Game time is 8:30 o'clock.

NEW YORK, March 4 (CP).—Montreal Canadiens made an impressive bid for a place in the National Hockey play-offs tonight by walloping the last-place New York Rangers, 7-2, before 8,481 spectators.

The victory put the Habitants only two points behind Chicago Black Hawks and Toronto Maple Leafs, who are tied for third place.

Chicago and Toronto, both idle tonight, have six games apiece to play while Canadiens have only five.

Toe Blake and Jo Benoit were the mainstays of the Montreal attack but Ray Getliffe, Gordon Drillon and Buddy O'Connor were not far behind. The latter combination accounted for a goal apiece.

Blake registered two goals only twenty-two seconds apart, in the third period after feeding Benoit a pass for the opening tally.

Montreal's other goal getter was Ex-Manager Dutch Hiller. For New York, Hank Goldup and Clint Smith did the scoring, the latter getting his goal while Leo Lamoureux was off the ice in one of the game's two penalties.

The Ranger defence was further weakened when Alf Pike retired after the first period because of a severe cold.

At the same time the Wings returned Forward Joe Fisher to Indianapolis after he had served one game for Eddie Wares, who since has recovered from a back injury.

Cowichan Trophy Rugby Series To Commence

WITH the city Rugby championship safely tucked away, Naval College ruggers will open their bid for the Cowichan Trophy, emblematic of the Vancouver Island title, tomorrow at Macdonald Park when they oppose the Royal Air Force. The match is the first of the annual series for the silverware and will find rival squads at full strength. R.A.F. lads are determined to make a desperate fight for the trophy, and during the week held a special training session at Macdonald Park for the purpose of strengthening their line-up for tomorrow's cup match. On the lower field Victoria College will meet Naval College "B" ruggers in an exhibition affair. Games are set for 2:45 o'clock.

Conn Willing to Face Joe Louis

PITTSBURGH, March 4 (AP).—Cpl. William Davis (Billy) Conn said tonight he is willing to fight Sgt. Joe Louis for the world's heavyweight title "for nothing."

The former boxer, home on a furlough from Camp Lee, Va., also gave his approval of a proposal for such a fight, whereby purchasers of seats would buy war bonds ranging from $25 for the "bleachers" to $10,000 for ringside.

The plan was sent tonight by mail to Henry L. Stimson, Secretary of War, by Post-Gazette Columnist Al Abrams, organizer of the Dapper Dan charity clubs. Stimson halted a scheduled rematch between Conn and Louis last year after learning the fighters were to have certain debts and income tax payments made from the receipts.

Louis knocked out Conn in their match in New York in June, 1941, to which 60,071 fans paid $451,743 with tickets ranging from $2.50 to $25.

Football Honors At Stake Saturday

V.M.D. and R.A.F. Will Meet in Important League Encounter

One point away from clinching the Victoria and District Football League championship and gaining possession of the coveted Garrison Cup, long symbol of soccer supremacy, Manager "Jock" McColl's Victoria Machinery Depot footballers tomorrow will meet the only club to defeat them this season—the Royal Air Force lads from the Old Country.

It will be the second attempt by the builders of Liberty ships to lift the laurels. Three weeks ago they met the British airmen under similar conditions, and in that match the Old Country soccer players scored a 2-0 victory. Tomorrow vows Mr. McColl, it will be different.

V.M.D. have been setting the pace in the league race since the curtain went up in September, 1942, and McColl has his eyes set on the Garrison Cup. The canny Scot has been in football a long time, and like all good managers, wants to take the league championship.

Ft. Lt. Dunn, manager of the Royal Air Force team, playing in the Victoria and District Football League competition for their first time, would also like to annex the silverware. The Old Country lads were also going along at a fast clip in the early season's play, but fell down slightly when they came against the V.M.D. However, since that time they have shown considerable improvement in their play, and are certainly all keyed up over tomorrow's game with the shipyard workers.

The senior match will be the feature attraction of the Annual Juvenile Day at Royal Athletic Park, and will get under way at 2:45 o'clock. Dave McMillan will referee.

As a curtain raiser to the V.M.D.-R.A.F. fixture "Royals and Maple Leafs, juvenile league clubs, will meet in a cup-tie game at 1:30 o'clock.

Alderman Duncan McTavish, chairman of the City Parks Board, will present the trophy to the captain of the winning juvenile club, and will start the senior match by kicking off the ball.

Out at Admirals Road, home of the Royal Canadian Navy team, the bluejackets will be hosts to the Army in a second league game. King has been named as referee, and the kick-off has been set for 2:45 o'clock.

SUNDAY FIXTURES ARE ANNOUNCED

Two soccer matches have been announced for Sunday.

At Bullen Park, Esquimalt United will be at home to the R.A.F. second eleven, with Danny Glancy in charge. The kick-off is set for 2:45 o'clock.

St. Louis College and Gorge Aces first division juvenile teams will meet in a Norman Whittaker Cup final, Sunday, at Heywood Avenue at 1:30 o'clock. The fixture will be preliminary to the provincial play-offs slated later this month.

Gorge Aces line-up follows: Osborne, Conyers, Sweeney, Walker, Scott, Clark, Robertson, Sumner, Anderson, Baker and Crawford.

Army, Flyers Open Cage Play-Offs At High School

ROYAL Canadian Air Force and Army senior "A" men's basketball squads will open their Vancouver Island final play-offs this evening at the Victoria High School gymnasium, when they meet in the first game of the best-of-five series. Flyers and soldiers staged some ding-dong battles in the regular league schedule, and basketball fans are anticipating plenty of excitement in the play-downs for the right to enter the provincial finals against the Mainlanders. Army and Air Force quintettes will swing into action at 8:30 o'clock, the play-off game to be preceded by an exhibition affair between K.V.'s and the R.A.F. at 7:30 o'clock. St. Louis College juniors and intermediate "B" boys' teams will travel to Nanaimo today to oppose the Up-Islanders in the final games of the home-and-home series for Island honors. Collegians registered impressive victories in the opening contests here and should return with the laurels.

Caddies Wanted For Golf Event

AN SOS went out from officials in charge of the large list for the fifteenth annual Empress golf tournament yesterday for boys and girls to caddie during the big event, which will open at the Oak Bay links and the Colwood course next Monday morning when the fields go in search of the qualifying round honors. Those wishing to carry bags are asked to telephone O 7414 at the Oak Bay club any time today, tomorrow or Sunday, while the number at Colwood is Belmont 41. Competitors may play practice rounds at the two courses tomorrow and Sunday without the payment of green fees. Shotmakers intending to take part are asked to file their names before 5 o'clock on Saturday as the draw will be released for the medal tests.

Ex-Champion Killed

LONDON, March 4 (CP).—Dick Corbett, former bantamweight boxing champion of England, was among those killed in last night's air raid.

Corbett was recently released from the Royal Artillery and was in training for a bout. He defeated Johnny King in 1931 for the title, which he later relinquished because of increasing weight. His widow and two children survive.

Sport Notes Interesting

Trio of Trainers Pass in England

LONDON, March 4 (CP).—The British turf suffered what many consider an irreplaceable loss when death struck three of its foremost trainers within three days. They were Alex Taylor, eighty, most successful trainer of this century; William Rose Jarvis, fifty-seven, trainer for three kings, and R. J. Adams, outstanding on the continent.

Publishers and racing celebrities attempted without success to persuade Taylor, known as the "Wizard of Manton," to tell his secrets of the trade in which he made such a success. He retired in 1927, but remained in an advisory capacity to the stable until his death.

His formula for successful training was simple—on paper.

"All that is necessary," he once said, "is that the finest bloodstock should be selected and after that with judicious training it is only a matter of time for winners to be produced."

Taylor was a man of silence and always sartorially perfect, who could rarely be persuaded to talk, let alone write, of his historic mastership of the Manton Stable, which housed three Derby winners and won more than $3,300,000 in prize money from 1902 to 1927. He saddled more than 900 winners in that time, including five Oaks, five St. Legers and four Two Thousand Guineas. His entries won the Ascot Gold Cup five times.

He trained for many of the most prominent owners of the day. Often he would have two or more runners in an important race. The results were not always in accordance with public anticipations and some bettors developed the habit of backing what they described as the "Manton Neglected" (the horse least likely to win).

Jarvis, one of three brothers famed as trainers, died following a third operation in a London hospital. Probably the tallest member of his profession, he also was one of the most reticent and in victory or defeat his face never lost its grim look.

Descendant of a man who trained the 1821 Derby winner, Jarvis was trainer for King George V, King Edward VIII and the present monarch. His most successful season was in 1928 when he saddled fourteen winners and his Scuttle won the One Thousand Guineas for King George V. He also trained Lord Rothermere's Godiva, winner of the One Thousand Guineas and the Oaks in 1940.

Adams, son of a prominent steeplechase rider, was trainer at Clarehaven Lodge, Newmarket. Prior to 1931 he spent most of his career on the continent and had most of his success in Austria-Hungary, where he was champion jockey six times and rode three Derby, one Oaks and nine St. Leger winners. As a trainer there he was even more successful, with six Derby, eleven Oaks and three St. Leger victories.

Attention Ice Fans

NEW WESTMINSTER, March 4 (CP).—For tossing a bottle onto the ice during a hockey game at Queen's Park Arena last Monday night, Russell Dunkin was fined $50. He pleaded guilty to a charge of disorderly conduct.

COLLINS HOLDING OWN

BUFFALO, N.Y., March 4 (AP).—James J. (Jimmy) Collins, seventy-three, one of baseball's greatest third basemen, is making a "terrific fight" against pneumonia and "definitely looks better," an attending physician said today. The physician added, however, that Collin's condition "remains somewhat critical."

CLEVELAND, March 4 (AP).—Cleveland Indians lost a regular first baseman today when Les Fleming asked to be placed on the voluntarily retired list for the duration. Fleming plans to continue working in a Beaumont, Tex., shipyard unless called to service.

Home Shortage Prevents Export Of Timber to U.S.

Several Objections To Senator's Plan

Production of logs in British Columbia is not sufficient to meet domestic and military needs, and none are available for export, Forestry Department officials said [illegible] on the suggestion that West Vancouver Island logs be sold for use in the nearest mills, whether in Canada or the United States.

The suggestion, made by Senator C. Wallgren, of Washington, was advanced as a means of saving transportation and speeding production. He proposed that the Canadian Government order logs shipped to nearest fabricating plants.

"Apart from the fact that we cannot produce sufficient logs for our own needs," said George Melrose, assistant chief forester, "there are other considerations.

"For one thing, the suggestion rests on the assumption that West Coast logs are not fabricated at Island centres, such as Victoria and Port Alberni, but are taken to Vancouver, which is not necessarily so.

"While fabricating plants in Everett and Port Angeles are closer to Island timber than are those in Vancouver, much of our timber is fabricated on the Island."

The Canadian Government recently imposed an embargo on timber, cutting off shipments which formerly went to Puget Sound markets.

Hotel Business Sold To Norman Isherwood

In the case of the Angela Hotel transfer, which became effective on March 1, only the hotel business was bought by Norman Isherwood, while the building itself remains in the hands of the former owners.

Mr. Isherwood said yesterday that Malcolm McHardy, Vancouver, from whom he acquired the business, operated the hotel under similar conditions. Mr. Isherwood is former owner of the James Bay Hotel, which he sold last Summer.

Wide Interest in Religion Caused By Present War

One of the most interesting by-products of the present war is an increased demand for religious education throughout the Anglo-Saxon world, according to Rev. Dr. A. Harding Priest, who spoke at the Lions Club luncheon yesterday in Spencer's dining-room.

As Western secretary of the General Board of Religious Education, Church of England, Dr. Priest outlined motives behind the demand as political and educational, and claimed the time is now ripe for a forward movement in the home, church, and school.

"The home is receiving mass attacks today through war conditions such as no other institutions are called upon to bear," he said. "Christianity fits into the home relationship, and all great social advances have been made in defence of the home."

ADVANCE MADE IN SCHOOLS

Great advances are being made in the schools, he said, as forty-six states of the United States now have some measure of religious education, and in Quebec, Ontario, and the Prairie Provinces, many schools have introduced one or two periods a week for religious study.

By provisions in the School Act of British Columbia, he said, the situation is not so easily handled, although teachers deserve credit for their attitude and instruction.

"There are channels available, however, through religious exercises such as were practised for several years at Victoria High School, and release time education after school hours," he said. "This latter system is used extensively in the United States."

Safeblowing Trial Still in Progress

Crown testimony only has thus far been given in the trial of George Stedman, John Milton and Bert Tully, accused of blowing a safe in the Safeway Store at 707 Fort Street, on December 20, last.

First called on Wednesday, Police Inspector J. F. C. B. Vance, of Vancouver, concluded yesterday afternoon his testimony concerning certain envelopes and packages, the contents of which he had analyzed.

Constable T. A. Banister, of the city police, told of visiting the scene, and of the condition of the safe and premises upon his arrival.

George H. Morgan, store manager, described the scene as it appeared to him when called by the police. He confirmed the sum of money said to be missing, $458, which, he said, he had personally placed in the safe the night before.

City Detective D. P. Donaldson was called and his testimony left unfinished when court adjourned at 4.30 p.m.

Draft Amendment On Assessment Of Land Opposed

Owner Would Lose, Committee Is Told

Appearing before the municipal matters committee in the Legislature yesterday morning, W. H. M. Haldane, representing the Hudson's Bay Company, opposed a draft amendment [illegible] dealing with land assessments.

The amendment provides that until the expiration of the year following the end of the war, no appeal to a judge of the Supreme Court or to a county court judge shall be allowed on the ground that any land has been valued at too high an amount if the assessment appealed against is not greater than the assessed value of the land in 1942.

Mr. Haldane explained that the Hudson's Bay Company owned property within the municipality of Oak Bay, comprising largely an area now known as Uplands golf course, bordered on three sides by three farms totalling 460 acres. He said the farms are let at comparatively low rentals. For many years the golf club has been leased on terms whereby the club pays taxes only.

He contended that if the amendment goes through, his client may be in the position of losing vested rights.

"If you decide to recommend this legislation," he said, "there should be a saving clause that nothing in this provision shall be construed so as to deprive landowners of any rights they have obtained by appeal to a court of revision."

He contended that the Legislature might as well decide to treat the income of every man in Canada as static income during the entire period of the war.

Asked if the farmlands were needed for residential purposes, Mr. Haldane replied that evidence produced in court showed that the cost of subdividing services would be great. "If these were paid first and then subdivided, it would exhaust the value of the land," he said. "There is plenty of vacant land in Oak Bay."

Manslaughter Is Verdict of Jury

Inquest Held on Death of A. E. Tudor

A verdict of manslaughter was returned by a coroner's jury under Dr. E. C. Hart at McCall Bros.' Funeral Chapel yesterday morning after investigating circumstances surrounding the death of Albert Edward Tudor, seventy, whose remains were found at Pandora Avenue and Quadra Street early Tuesday morning.

Don Alvarano Rivardo, cab driver, was charged with manslaughter in connection with the death in city police court on Wednesday. Bail was set at $5,000, and the accused remanded until next Tuesday for a preliminary hearing.

At the inquest yesterday, John Naysmith identified the remains and stated deceased was in normal health with good eyesight and hearing. Frederick G. Hull told of finding the body when walking to work at 5.45 a.m., and of asking his wife to summon police. He recalled it was quite dark at the time.

Constable Harley DaVidson told of arriving at the scene of the accident with Sergeant Thomas Stevenson about 6 o'clock. "We found the body lying face downward with blood at the head and feet," DaVidson testified. "Constables Robert Morris and George Buckle assisted in taking measurements. We found a cap fifty-nine feet east of the body and a rubber heel eighteen feet away. There were tire burns seventy-five feet three inches long. The body was dressed in medium brown clothing," DaVidson recalled.

Dr. J. S. McCallum, who examined the body at the Royal Jubilee Hospital shortly after 6 o'clock, estimated that death had taken place within an hour of his examination.

William Heller, driver for the Gray Line Cab Company, described being flagged by Hull at the scene of the mishap.

Sergeant John Blackstock testified that, accompanied by Constable J. D. Blackstock, he located a taxi at 9 o'clock Tuesday morning on Yates Street, between Douglas and Blanshard Streets.

On examining the machine, he said, they found the right front fender and grill damaged, two depressions on the right half of the engine hood, and two patches of paint missing. Blackstock informed the jury he arrested a man later at the Fairfield Hotel.

The police department was represented at the inquest by Inspector Walter Calwell, Detectives Henry F. Jarvis and John Lund, and Constable Henry Wilson.

All-Time Timber Supply Guarantee Urged in House

Leary Asks Change In Forest Policy

A forest policy that would guarantee in perpetuity an adequate supply of timber to an operator in his own district was advocated in the Legislature yesterday by C. S. Leary (Lib., Kaslo-Slocan).

Mr. Leary, a logging operator, said he would like to see such a policy enacted by the Forest Branch.

"This would interest the operator to take care of the timber, and money spent on roads in opening up the timber would not be lost for they would be suitable for hauling on for years to come," Mr. Leary argued. "There is room for the Minister of Lands to investigate this possibility."

He said that accessible stands of timber, particularly in the Interior, suitable to supply established mills during the life of a sawmill, are now difficult to obtain. He said he is opposed to "outsiders" acquiring stands of timber in any district.

Turning to reforestation, he put forward the suggestion that it might be advisable to replant trees rather than convert logged-off areas into farmlands.

Mr. Leary dealt with the possibilities of the Slocan and Salmo mining districts where, he asserted, "there exists the possibility of tremendous bodies of war metals only waiting to be uncovered and developed.

"All we ask at the present time is sympathetic consideration from our Government to our mining problems and support in constructing trails and roads leading into this potential war metal district," said the member for Kaslo-Slocan as he outlined an eighteen-point programme for the suggested guidance of the Government.

Publicity Bureau to Continue Support of Tourist Advertising

The Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau will participate in the Evergreen Playground Association this year, according to a unanimous decision made yesterday at a meeting of the bureau's board of directors, and will contribute 10 per cent. to the fund used by the association for campaigns.

It was also decided that the bureau will appeal to merchants of Victoria to support the bureau financially in its efforts to continue its advertising.

W. J. Clark was re-elected president of the bureau for 1943, and Alderman B. J. Gadsden was named chairman of the finance committee. Other members elected to the finance committee were Aldermen W. H. Davies, W. Lloyd Morgan, D. D. McTavish, E. Williams, and Harold [illegible]

EVEN HOURS CURTAILED

Candy making is anything but an easy task under the restrictions which war conditions impose. The sugar quota is, of course, the most difficult, with chocolate a close second. It became necessary to curtail store hours which is working quite well — 1 p.m. till 6 p.m. daily.

NOT AFFECTED

CRANBROOK, B.C., March 4 (CP)—The Federal order in council authorizing Orientals in British Columbia to be employed on Crown lands in lumber operations for the duration will not affect the southern section of this district. The military restricted area runs from the international boundary ninety miles north to Wasa, then southeast of Morrissey. However, it may affect the northern part, since several lumber firms are operating at Canal Flat, Invermere and Donald, near Golden.

"The Boy From Maine"
By KATHARINE BRUSH

CHAPTER XLI

Everybody began to notice the difference in him. Ruby was the first, of course; a close second was Mae McLean, of Ruby's chorus, who had been his special girl for the past half year. There was always a special one; there always had been. But now he simply ended that affair—and simply because he was bored with it. "I know. You've got another girl," Mae said; and Hobey said, "It isn't that." It wasn't, either, in the way she meant. It was that he had another idea.

Actually he was looking things over and coming to certain conclusions. Until he had begun seeing Rosalie again, he had thought that he'd achieved quite a good deal; but now, looking at himself through her eyes, it wasn't good enough. The success he had been proud of seemed commonplace and meretricious, and he found himself asking, "Where do you go from here, Hadley?" He even did a few things about it—he wrote some more song lyrics to tunes by Eddie Nye, of Ruby's orchestra, and he began to shop around to see if he could get some radio work to do in his free time. He had a lot of free time, after all, and he hadn't been doing much of anything with it; he wasn't sure that these things he was doing now were constructive things, but at least they were small new departures that might eventually lead somewhere.

Certainly Rosalie was the cause of all this, but sometimes he wondered why, exactly, because he really didn't see her a great many times during the months that followed—not nearly as often as he tried to. It began to seem that whenever he called her she was away somewhere, or just about to go away. This happened so often that at first he kept concluding that she didn't want to see him—but it didn't seem to be that, because she always called him up as soon as she got back. "Come straight over here this minute, Hobey! I've got so much to tell you."

It was a love affair on Hobey's part—they both knew that, though it was unexpressed—and on Rosalie's part it was a genuine liking, or it seemed to be. They got on beautifully. They were companionable; they enjoyed the same things and they proved to like the same kind of people. Rosalie's friends took to Hobey without question, and he to them. He made a fourth on parties when Rosalie needed him; she would call him any time—well in advance, or at the last minute—and say, "Hobey, are you free this evening, darling? Till you have to go to work, I mean? Well, then, help me out. Bailey's just phoned from the office, and he can't get home again, and we're having the Gardiners to dinner and I've got four tickets to 'The Road to Rome.' So could you fill in? Oh, you're an angel!"

The occasions when he saw her alone were rare, but they were unforgettable. She could lend a kind of magic to the most ordinary places—familiar restaurants, the park, the interior of taxis—even the streets. You sat with her in restaurants, and everything took on a kind of golden haze, and everything went well; the orchestra played not too loudly, and they chose the tunes you liked.

It was at such times that they grew confidential and told each other many things they never spoke about at any other time. Hobey kept thinking that some day soon, some relaxed evening, during an hour like this, he would hear more than he yet knew, or yet understood, about her marriage and about Bailey. Meanwhile there were many things that were mystifying, and try as you would, you wouldn't make up your mind as to exactly what the relationship was, or how it was working out, or whether or not Rosalie was happy—you could tell only that the marriage was one of those modern, we-are-free arrangements. Hobey had no real basis for his growing suspicion that it was more free for Bailey than it was for Rosalie—or that she wanted it to be. This was just a hunch he had, and kept on having.

Occasionally, when he went to the apartment, Bailey was there, and usually other people were there too, and everybody was friendly and matter-of-fact about Hobey's presence. Bailey even seemed to like him, and to like having him around. If this was a bluff, it was a perfect one. Once Hobey thought he'd try to call it—just in case, and just to see—and he cornered Bailey, and faced him smilingly, and said, "Look. Let me get this straight. Do you mind my sticking around so much? I wish you'd say so, if you do."

But Bailey merely looked amused. "Of course I'd say so, if I did. Don't worry, fellow. Matter of fact, you're a great addition to our little circle. We all think that."

He even gave Hobey's shoulder a fraternal thump. "Come on and have a drink," he said. "You're talking nonsense, here."

Sports Roundup
By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, March 4 (AP)—Promoter Mike Jacobs is toying with the idea of staging afternoon outdoor fight shows this Summer at the Yankee Stadium and Polo Grounds. One of the afternoon bouts may bring together Willie Pep, recognized in New York as featherweight champion, and Beau Jack, who has the New York Commission blessing as lightweight king.

SHORT SPORT STORY

When Coach Johnny Barovich, of Columbus, Mont., High School, heard of the Smith mine disaster at Bear Creek, he left his basketball team flat and donned a miner's hard hat to go to work with the rescue crew. . . . His father is one of the seventy-two miners entombed.

(Headline: "Allentown, Pa., Police Use Tear Gas to Quell Basketball Riot.")
The basketball fans were whooping it up,
And the referee turned quite pale,
When in came the cops armed with tear-gas bombs
And threatened to fling them in jail.
With tears in their eyes and hate in their hearts
The wolves continued to howl,
But the losing team's coach, with a moan of despair,
Merely reached for his crying towel.

HOT STUFF UP NORTH

Frank Winchell, of Jacksonville, Florida, figures that this business of having baseball teams train in the North will be a good thing for his state (which hasn't room for 'em, anyway). . . . He argues: "After a couple of years they'll be happier than ever to get back where it's warm."

NEW YORK, March 4 (AP)—Ex-Lightweight Champion Sammy Angott has been toughening himself for his comeback against Willie Pep, March 19, by working on a concrete mixer.

The "special" pace planned for Saturday's I.C. 4-"A" track championships is out, partly because Gil Dodds doesn't want to run more than a mile and partly because Greg Rice not only burned up the track but blistered his feet badly in winning the A.A.U. three-mile championship. . . . Earl Hilligan, the American League drumbeater, figures a close pennant race will offset the loss of Feller, DiMaggio, Williams, etc., when it comes to drawing the fans. He points out the league attendance record was set in 1940 when Detroit and Cleveland battled right down to the finish.

TODAY'S GUEST STAR

Call: "If the National League devises a point system of rationing ball players, Bucky Harris can truthfully say that his cupboards are bare and that he deserves his full compliment of stamps."

SERVICE DEPARTMENT

Tee Branca is one soldier who is sure of getting his old job back when the war ends. The Fort Douglas, Utah, Golf Club announced it will get along without a pro until he returns. . . . Sure, what's golf without a tee?

CLEANING THE CUFF

Jimmy McLarnin, Vancouver's ex-welterweight champ, runs a milling machine in a Los Angeles defence plant on week-days, but on Sundays he mills around with movie stars, directors, etc., at the exclusive Lakeside Golf Club.

Col. Hood Addresses Air Raid Personnel

Speaking of the work of rescue squads in London, Col. F. G. Hood last night addressed a meeting of members of District No. 7, A.R.P., who met in the Eagles Hall on View Street, W. Bridgewood, district warden, presiding.

Colonel Hood spoke of the waning public interest in air raid precautions. Civil protection, he said, is most essential, and there must be no lessening of preparation and vigilance. He warned against the possibility of so-called "nuisance" raids which, even as a last desperate thrust by the enemy, could do immeasurable damage.

Some interesting and informative pictures by J. Swansom completed the special programme upon the occasion of the group's regular business meeting.

What Today Means

"PISCES"

If March 5 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date will be from 9:15 to 11:15 a.m., from 1:15 to 3:15 p.m. and from 7:15 to 9:15 p.m. The danger periods will be from 7:15 to 9:15 a.m., from 5:15 to 7:15 p.m., and from 9:15 to 11:15 p.m.

There may be many "fishy" explanations offered on March 5 by those more interested in dodging than in doing their part to further the war effort, so be prepared to distinguish between legitimate and phony excuses. Many people will suffer from a lack of time consciousness on this date, so keep track of its passage, especially if you have an engagement. It will be a mistake to undertake to do too many things on this date, for you may find yourself physically unable to be as active on the following day as you should if you put too much strain on your power of endurance now. Married and engaged couples, and those exchanging confidences of love, had better remember that "words are but the shadows of actions" and that they should be used cautiously, especially on March 5.

If you are a woman and March 5 is your birthday, you should be a tactful person who has the gift of being able to pour oil on troubled waters and still them at the psychological moment. To your family and intimates your looks can convey a world of meaning and save you from having to say unpleasant things in plain words. You are apt to have the wisdom and good taste not to indulge in gossip, particularly that involving people you like. As a vocational, literary or theatrical agent, writer, business manager, broker, demonstrator, trained nurse, artist, musician, singer, defence worker, or in some professional activity, a most successful future appears to lie ahead for you. Your matrimonial expectations should be fulfilled in a thoroughly satisfactory manner.

The child born on March 5 seldom is a disappointment to his parents. The cheerfulness of Pisces children generally adds to the happiness of those around them and makes them an acquisition to social gatherings. Brains, rather than brawn, usually enables these youngsters to overcome successfully the pitfalls and barriers that stand between them and success.

If you are a man and March 5 is your natal day, appreciate that which you have already and be grateful for that which you received and you are apt to find yourself steadily acquiring more and more of the things you deem essential to your happiness. As an illustrator, engineer, skilled mechanic, inventor, manufacturer, sales representative, journalist, author, actor, clergyman, artist, musician, photographer, agriculturist, horticulturist, scientist, or as a member of the armed forces you should reap many benefits and satisfactory awards.

Collegians Beat High School XV

Score Is 14-0 in Kiwanis Cup Tilt

Victoria College ruggers took the Kiwanis Cup back to Craigdarroch yesterday following their 14-0 victory over Victoria High School in the annual inter-school match played on the Fernwood Road campus.

Coach John Rowland's blue and gold aggregation had a wide margin in the territorial play and were certainly more potent on the attack. Weight advantage gave Collegians an edge in the scrums, while their backs, led by fleet-footed Bobby Wilkinson, track star, were far superior.

Forced to take the field minus four of their regulars who were on the injured list, High School lacked the drive and aggressiveness of their opponents from the Craigdarroch institution.

Bobby Wilkinson was the scoring star of the game, carrying the ball over the opposing line for three tries. "Siki" Sturrock, of Canadian football fame, registered the other major score for the Collegians, and Hurn converted the third try for the other two points.

Victoria College opened the scoring when Bobby Wilkinson outfooted the opposition in a race for the loose ball after the forwards had carried play deep into High School territory. The kick failed.

The blue and gold picked up three additional points before the breather, with Bobby Wilkinson again scoring following a passing bout with the complete three-quarter line participating in the play. The attempted conversion failed to make the score 6-0 at half-time.

BOBBY WILKINSON GOES OVER AGAIN

Victoria High School fought back as the final half opened, but loose passing well inside the College "two-bit" line ruined their few scoring opportunities.

Returning on the offensive Collegians scored when Bobby Wilkinson took a pass from "Bunny" Lott, halfback, and planted the leather immediately behind the uprights. Hurn converted to make the score 11-0.

Galloping "Siki" Sturrock wound up the scoring for the winners about six minutes later when he crashed over to the left of the goalposts. The kick for extra points failed.

Murray Martindale, president of the Kiwanis Club, donors of the silverware, kicked off the ball to start the match and presented the trophy to Dave Wilson, captain of the Victoria College team, after the game.

During the half-time interval the Victoria High School Majorettes, nattily attired in their red sweaters and white skirts, gave a drill demonstration. They received quite an ovation from the students. Music was supplied by members of the high school band. Hurn refereed.

Line-ups:

Victoria College — McKeachie, Hamilton, Wilkinson, Sturrock, Carr, Wilson, Lott, McIllree, Hurn, Orton, Heaslip, McLagan, Pickles, Baker and Shaw.

Victoria High School — Gower, Coates, Wallis, Callow, Rowley, Thomas, Crawford, Corbett, Wood, Boadel, Downs, Thorburn, Scott and Donaghy.

SPORTSMEN TO MEET

SEATTLE, March 4 (AP).—British Columbia and Washington sportsmen will meet and Gov. Arthur B. Langlie be a guest at the first international sportsmen's banquet here the night of March 15. Game Commissioners Frank Butler and Jim Cunningham will head the Canadian delegation, sponsors said today.

TORONTO, March 3 (CP).—Some action may be taken before next season to curtail the number of assists given on National Hockey League goals. At least two high-ranking N.H.L. officials, Manager Jack Adams of Detroit Red Wings and Coach Dick Irvin of Montreal Canadiens, favor such curtailment. Undoubtedly the question will be brought before the league governors with a view to revision of scoring rules.

In an interview with Dink Carroll of The Montreal Gazette, Adams and Irvin suggested the solution may lie in giving only one assist on a goal. That would certainly reduce the number of assists. This season, for example, two assists have been given on a majority of goals. In the first 124 games there were 676 goals and 1,347 assists.

Assists were first given to encourage unselfish play. The idea is good, but it can be overdone. After all, the pay-off is the goal itself. It is not overly encouraging to a player who scores after beating the defence alone to have a couple of mates receive equal credit through assists because they handled the puck outside the defence. Frequently the awarding of assists depends on whether the officials are in a magnanimous mood or otherwise. This has led to dissatisfaction among players because, as Adams and Irvin say, scorers in some cities are tougher than others.

"I think you'll find they're too generous with the home team's players and probably too stingy with visiting players," said Irvin.

IS TOUGH ON EVERYBODY

"Not in Detroit," said Adams. "That guy out there is tough on everybody. You have to earn an assist there to get credit for it and I agree with him in principle—but my own players are hollering murder. None of them are up among the leading point-scorers. They get goals, but they don't get built up on home ice with cheap assists the way guys on the other teams do."

The situation is not quite as serious as Adams pictures it. Statistics show for the 124 games that the six clubs have averaged 224 assists. Detroit's total of 182 assists on 134 goals was below the average, but all other clubs except New York Rangers had scored more goals than the Wings.

Many solutions to the assist question have been offered. One is that assists should be given as at present but that two points should be awarded to the actual goal-getter. This corner does not subscribe to that proposal, but does favor limiting assists to passes laid down inside the attacking zone. Admittedly many passes in the defence or centre zones lead to goals, but any player refusing to make such passes should not be allowed on the ice. Assists should be given where a player has a good chance to move in for a goal himself but unselfishly passes to a team mate in better position.

TORONTO, March 4 (CP).—Death of Bill Taugher, thirty-five, one of hockey's finest goalkeepers ten years ago, recalls that Bill was the star of one of the greatest games in Canada's puck history—the Ontario junior final in 1926 between Taugher's Kingston Frontenacs and North Bay. The game was played in Toronto and Kingston trailed by three goals in the third period. They tied it up and each team scored in the first overtime period and again in the second. In the third extra period, George Patterson fired the goal that gave Frontenacs a 6-5 win and sent them into the Memorial Cup final, where they lost to Calgary Canadians, two games to one. Kingston won the first game of the final, 4-2, but lost the next two by identical 3-2 scores.

Patterson, now with Indianapolis in the American League, is the only member of that Kingston team still playing hockey. Carl Voss and Taugher turned professional and Bill spent six years with the Buffalo Bisons in the old International League before he was injured in March, 1934, in a game with London Tecumsehs. X-rays then showed Taugher suffered an injury to the base of his spine. He retired from hockey at a time when he was regarded as major league timber. Eighteen months ago he was stricken with paralysis and, despite an operation for removal of a brain tumor, never recovered.

CAN'T MISS SELECT TEAM

A GOOD GAMBLE

One of the few civilian hockey teams to make an outstanding showing this season was Quebec Morton Aces in the Quebec Senior League. Lloyd McGowan, of The Montreal Star, congratulated their sponsor, Jimmy Morton, and adds: "They say Jimmy will clear around $20,000 on a season's operation with the Acemen in the new Quebec auditorium, where he has a foolproof hook-up with the city on a percentage basis." Morton says: "We took a $10,000 gamble and we're going to be all right."

At the Theatres

Hilarious Comedy Now at Dominion

One of the funniest screen stories ever told, according to advance reports, opens today at the Dominion Theatre, when Paramount's new Preston Sturges picture, "The Palm Beach Story," is to be unreeled. Claudette Colbert and Joel McCrea are co-starred, with Mary Astor and Rudy Vallee appearing in support.

The tale is a typical Preston Sturges laugh-fest in that it concentrates on jokes—practical and otherwise—and lets the serious go by the boards. It will be remembered by film fans that Sturges provided plenty of fun with his "Sullivan's Travels," "The Lady Eve," "Christmas in July" and "The Great McGinty."

"The Palm Beach Story" is said to top them all with its hilarious picture of a married woman—Claudette Colbert—who believes she can help her husband in his business by divorcing him and being simply a sister to him. Joel McCrea plays the husband.

Amusements

On the Screen

Atlas—"The Forest Rangers," starring Paulette Goddard and Fred MacMurray.

Cadet—Kay Francis and Walter Huston in "Always in My Heart."

Capitol—"Springtime in the Rockies," with Betty Grable and John Payne.

Dominion—Claudette Colbert and Joel McCrea in "The Palm Beach Story."

Oak Bay—Jean Arthur, Fred MacMurray and Melvyn Douglas in "Too Many Husbands."

Plaza—George Brent and Priscilla Lane in "Silver Queen."

Rio—Rochelle Hudson and Ricardo Cortez in "Rubber Racketeers."

York—Nelson Eddy and Jeanette MacDonald in "I Married an Angel."

ATLAS THEATRE Paramount's latest adventure movie of the great outdoors, "The Forest Rangers," now showing at the Atlas Theatre, is a blaze of glory, forest fires, hit tunes and Technicolor. Based on the novel by Thelma Strabel, author of the Cecil B. DeMille sea saga, "Reap the Wild Wind," the present picture is a powerful love and adventure story with powerful touches of comedy and exciting performances by its trio of stars, Paulette Goddard, Fred MacMurray and Susan Hayward.

CADET THEATRE Kay Francis returned to the Warner Bros. lot, scene of her greatest triumphs, after a three-year absence to play the starring role opposite Walter Huston in "Always in My Heart," musical film, now showing at the Cadet Theatre. Kay, who used to be known as the "best dressed woman in Hollywood," and "the first siren of the screen," makes her return as the mother of a fifteen-year-old lass in "Always in My Heart."

CAPITOL THEATRE Edward Everett Horton has done right well for himself by sticking to his "timid" roles and characterizations. He even theorized about it after completing his current film, "Springtime in the Rockies," which is now playing at the Capitol Theatre. "Springtime in the Rockies," which prominently features Mr. Horton, is 20th Century-Fox's newest Technicolor musical, starring John Payne, Betty Grable, Carmen Miranda, Cesar Romero and Harry James and his Music Makers.

OAK BAY THEATRE The "paper" which Melvyn Douglas eats during one hilarious sequence of "Too Many Husbands," in which he is starred with Jean Arthur and Fred MacMurray at the Oak Bay Theatre, actually was made of very thin candy, to make his task easier as well as tastier. So tasty was the prop paper, in fact, that Douglas' co-stars nibbled at, and finished, the reserve supply before Douglas had completed his scene to the satisfaction of Director Wesley Ruggles.

RIO THEATRE When she was only four years old, Rochelle Hudson began to appear as a singer and dancer before clubs and schools in her native town of Claremore, Oklahoma. Miss Hudson is now playing at the Rio Theatre in "Rubber Racketeers," the exciting Monogram drama dealing with the present automobile tire situation, in which she is featured with Ricardo Cortez and Bill Henry.

PLAZA THEATRE Versatility seems to be George Brent's forte. Brent, the card-playing hero of "Silver Queen," which is now playing at the Plaza Theatre, was once middleweight boxing champion of Ireland where he was born. But, strange as it may seem for a boxing champ, Brent, when he was a student at Dublin University, became a poetry-lover after reading the poetry of Yeats. And in "Silver Queen," he's not only an ardent lover, a smooth gentleman of wealth, but a topnotch gambler who can more than hold his own with a deck of cards, as Priscilla Lane finds out in the picture.

YORK THEATRE The "craziest" party ever imagined by Hollywood scenarists was staged on a Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer sound stage to embellish "I Married an Angel," lilting musical co-starring Jeanette MacDonald and Nelson Eddy at the York Theatre. Miss MacDonald, as an angel, makes an entrance sliding down the banister. In another scene she wears a zebra skin coat. All details are distorted, as they might be seen in a dream. And more than a hundred beautiful girls, specially chosen, add a decorative touch.

Grove Was The Faster

Gehringer Says Lefty Was Tops

SAN FRANCISCO, March 4 (AP).—Lieut. Charles Leonard Gehringer, of the United States Navy, looked back over seventeen years of baseball as a Detroit Tigers' star and did not even hesitate over the question "Who was the fastest pitcher you ever faced?"

"It was Lefty Grove when he was with the Philadelphia Athletics," he said. "Grove threw the hardest ball I've seen. He was faster than Bob Feller, of Cleveland, in my opinion.

"Grove also was the toughest I ever batted against. Being a left-hander he had the advantage on a left-handed hitter. Feller has a terrific speed ball but I had less trouble with him than with Grove.

"The best National League pitcher I ever went up against was Dizzy Dean, of the Cardinals. He had everything, speed and a good curve. I never batted against Walter Johnson, but most of the baseball men who should know claim that in his prime with Washington he was faster than any other pitcher the game has known."

Gehringer, newly-assigned to the Navy Pre-Flight School at St. Mary's College, will coach baseball there. He says he will not return to the professional end of the sport.

His seventeen-year batting average of .321 makes him something of an authority on hitting and he sized up Babe Ruth, of Yankee fame, and Ted Williams, Boston Red Sox.

"Ruth had an easier right field to hit to in Yankee Stadium than Williams had in the Red Sox park, with its wind hazards. I'd like to have seen them on the same club. I think Ted would have outpowered the Babe."

Young People's Organizations

ST. ANDREW'S Y.P.S.

The regular meeting of the Y.P.S. of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church will be held at 8 o'clock in the lecture room on Monday. Miss Pearl Willows will show moving pictures of her trip around the world. All young people, particularly members of the forces, will find a warm welcome at this meeting. On Friday, March 19, a St. Patrick concert will be sponsored by the St. Andrew's Presbyterian Y.P.S. at the church. One feature of this concert will be a historic sketch of the City of Victoria given in pictures by Mrs. H. Beckwith.

ESQUIMALT Y.P.U.

Myrtle Cook presided at the meeting held recently of the Esquimalt Y.P.U. in the absence of the president, Marjorie Pready. Following the meeting the group Spring cleaned the kitchen and Sunday schoolroom. The members were reminded of the invitation received from Metropolitan Y.P.U. to a social on March 16.

CATHEDRAL A.Y.P.A.

Miss Mary Comber, vice-president of Christ Church Cathedral A.Y.P.A., presided at the meeting held in the Memorial Hall on Wednesday evening. Arrangements were made for the Shrove Tuesday social being held on March 9 in the Memorial Hall. Following the meeting five members were initiated and an interesting tour through the cathedral was conducted by Very Rev. Dean S. H. Elliott. The members of the A.Y.P.A. are continuing the after-service entertainments on Sunday evenings for men in uniform and friends.

ST. JOHN'S A.Y.P.A.

The weekly meeting of St. John's A.Y.P.A. was held with the president, Joan Brice, in the chair. The meeting opened with prayers, led by Jim O'Neil, following which the rector, Rev. George Biddle, addressed the gathering, his subject being "Confirmation Is What We Believe and How and Why We Believe It." A short business meeting was held, reports being given by the treasurer, Douglas Crowe, and the entertainment conveners, Bruce Cooke and Catherine Hughes. The Local Council report was read by Mrs. Eileen Hooper. Members were reminded of the pre-Lenten rally held last evening at Christ Church Cathedral and of Corporate Communion and breakfast on Sunday morning at 8:30 o'clock. A social will be held on Tuesday evening.

One out of every seven men in the United States armed forces wears spectacles.
